MILITANTS RENEW WARFARE WHEN BILL DIES IN COMMONS

Militant Tactics of Suffragettes Held Responsible for the Defeat of the Suffrage Bill by House of Commons

ATTEMPT MADE TO BLOW UP ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

Two Other Live Bombs Found in Other Sections of London, Effort Made my Militants to Destroy Newspaepr Plant

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 7.—An attempt to wreck the ancient St. Paul's cathedral by a bomb early today is attributed to militant suffragettes.

The verger who conducts sightseers through the massive edifice was making his rounds at about 8 o'clock this morning when he heard a ticking sound near the high altar. Upon investigation he found hidden a heavy parcel. He immediately placed it in water and handed it over to the police, who found a suffragette newspaper wrapped up with the bomb.

This attempt and the placing of two other bombs in other parts of the city this morning made it appear that militant suffragettes had entered anew on their havoc-working campaign as a sequel to the defeat of the woman suffrage bill in the house of commons last night.

Shortly after the discovery at the cathedral the police found a similar bomb-like package on the steps of a newspaper office in Fleet street and a tin canister believed to contain explosives was picked up on the steps of a wholesale drug establishment near St. Paul's.

No arrests were made. It is doubtful whether the police have clews to the identity of the bomb placers.

The bomb from the cathedral was examined by the police and government experts. It was painted black and contained two detonators attached to an electric battery. It was filled with slugs of a substance resembling coal. There is no doubt, the police say, that it was placed by militant suffragettes or persons in their employ.

"Small, but powerful," is the police officer's description of the bomb. When it was taken to pieces it was discovered that it was timed to explode at midnight. A mechanism of clock work retarded the explosion. Apparently only this accident prevented untold damage to the cathedral.

The general public is admitted to the choir and aisles of St. Paul's cathedral between 11 o'clock in the morning and 4:30 in the afternoon.

BESIDE BISHOP'S THRONE.

The cathedral was closed entirely at 4 o'clock last evening, and it appears certain that the bomb was deposited before that hour. It was found beneath a chair beside the bishop's throne at the head of the choir.

The dean conducted an even-song near the bishop's throne last evening, but neither he nor the bishop then noticed the package.

Plain clothes policemen have been on duty at St. Paul's for several weeks for the express purpose of preventing militant suffragette outbreaks, but they observed nothing wrong last night.

Several parts of the cathedral, usually opened to the public, were closed today.

Suffragette "arson squads" were also busy early this morning. They burned down a pavilion on the cricket field at Bishop's park, Fulham, in the west end of London, and set fire to an unoccupied house at Finchley, in the north of London.

Suffrage placards and quantities of chemicals were found in the vicinity of both fires.

MILITANCY KILLED BILL.

Another mysterious fire broke out at a timber yard in Lambeth today, the fourth of this kind in London within a few days. It was extinguished before much damage had been done.

The defeat of the woman suffrage bill in the house of commons last night is generally attributed by the morning newspapers to the women themselves—the militant ones, whose wild, law-breaking tactics alienated the sympathies of suffrage supporters.

The Times says that the embarrassment the militants have inflicted on the cause lay like a dead weight over the whole course of the debate on the bill in the commons.

"There is not the slightest doubt that the militants have defeated their own objects," the paper continues. "The change in the political barometer cannot be mistaken. For some years past bills giving suffrage to women have passed the second reading with respectable majorities. They may not have been intended to get any further, and we think there has been a good deal of hypocrisy on the part of some members who voted for their second reading, but that success has now been reversed.

"The majority is not very large, but in the circumstances it is decisive. It tells the militants as plainly as anything can that they are on the wrong road if they wish to get votes for women."

HOW THEY VOTED.

The fate of the woman's suffrage bill was sealed by the votes of more than fifty Irish nationalists, who voted against it. The bill, whereby it was sought to enfranchise 6,000,000 women, was rejected by a majority of 67, the vote stood 266 to 219.

Whether there is any chance that the present parliament will pass a bill of more limited character may be doubted. Possibly the nationalists fear that if they allow a woman's franchise bill to pass the second reading it will lead to a parliamentary struggle, which would not unlikely end in dissolution of parliament before the home rule bill becomes a law. Furthermore, the debate today proved that the militant policy of the suffragists has done the cause great harm as far as parliament is concerned. The conciliation bill of last session was rejected by only a small majority compared with the Dickinson bill under discussion today. Previous bills, giving some measure of enfranchisement to women, have passed the second reading, although they never survived subsequent stages.

19-Year-Old Bride Flees From Her Husband of 50

MRS. S. J. BELL,
Who was wooed and won in Waco, Texas, by a Georgian, whom she quit three weeks ago. Now she wants to go back home to her invalid mother, from whom she was adopted when she was three years old.

RATHER than live with her 50-year-old husband, who she alleged was "jealous, and too old to understand," Mrs. S. J. Bell, aged nineteen, fled from her home one mile from Marietta three weeks ago and sought refuge at the home of Mrs. William Butler, of 25 Hightower street, a friend.

Wednesday morning the youthful wife and Mrs. Butler quarreled, and the runaway asked the aid of Chief of Police Beavers in returning to the home of her mother at Waco, Tex. Her case is being investigated.

Mrs. Bell, while on the verge of tears, told the police chief a remarkable story of the wooing by Bell and of their marriage.

Mrs. Bell was formerly Miss Jenks and lived in Waco. One day last winter she was introduced to Bell, who was visiting friends there. Five days after the meeting, she said, Bell proposed marriage.

"He said I was the only girl in the world for him, and told glowing tales of his home at Marietta. He was a widower and had three children by a former wife. He said he wanted a mother for them, too.

"I didn't want to marry him then, and I told him so. He wouldn't take 'no' for an answer, though, and told me that he would send for me. I laughed at him then. I told him I liked him, but couldn't love him.

"Then one day I got a letter from him after he had returned home. That was in February. He wanted me to come and I went. I don't know now why I did it, and I regretted it soon afterward. But it was too late. We were married on February 15."

Mrs. Bell, when in Waco, lived with her adopted mother, Mrs. Mary Dowd. Her mother, Mrs. Violet K. Jenks, however, is living and it is to the latter that she wants to go. She told detectives that her mother is an invalid and unable to care for her in early life, and that Mrs. Dowd adopted her when she was but three years old.

SOUTHERN RY. INCREASES PAY OF 1,000 SHOP MEN

Many Employes in South to Benefit From Decision of Road's Officials

(By Associated Press.)

KANSAS CITY, May 7.—Increases in wages for approximately 1,000 shop men employed on the Southern railroad and allied lines in the southern states have been granted by the railroads concerned, according to an announcement from the headquarters of the International Union of Carmen.

The announcement was based upon a telegram from F. M. Ryan, president of the carmen's union, who is attending a conference in Washington, D. C., between managers and heads of the allied shop crafts.

The telegram said an agreement had been reached granting two cents an hour increase to all the carmen, effective April 1, and that this would add to the carmen's income by a total of $165,000 annually.

Officials said 25,000 carmen would be affected. They said the telegram indicated that boilermakers, sheet metal workers and the other allied crafts also had received increases.

ARCHITECT BADLY CUT IN FIGHT WITH CONTRACTOR

Hal F. Hentz Stabbed by J. A. Winkles in Altercation at Solicitor Dorsey's New House

The handsome new residence on Sixteenth street of Hugh M. Dorsey, solicitor general of the Atlanta circuit, was the scene about noon Wednesday of a bloody fight in which Hal F. Hentz, senior member of the firm of Hentz & Reid, architects, was seriously stabbed.

Mr. Hentz is now at the Grady hospital, while his alleged assailant J. A. Winkles, of Ben Point, a contractor, is being sought by the police, and also by the officers in Mr. Dorsey's employ.

Mr. Hentz was stabbed once in the left side, twice in the right thigh and once in his right wrist. He lost a great deal of blood, but when rushed to the hospital in Barclay & Brandon's ambulance was still conscious.

According to H. D. Hammond, superintendent for Hentz & Reid, the architect had several times complained to the contractor that he was putting a cheaper grade of mastal in the structure than was called for by the specifications. Mr. Hammond states that Mr. Hentz was "calling the contractor down" for this reason, when the altercation started. The combatants fell and rolled down the terrace and were then separated by Mr. Hammond and workmen.

According to a statement made by Mr. Hentz at the hospital Winkles called him a liar and he struck the first lick. Then he says that the contractor got busy with the knife.

Winkles left the vicinity before the arrival of the police, according to their report, and efforts are being made to find him by the officers.

Mr. Hentz's life is said to be in no danger.

SCHLEY HOWARD'S BROTHER GETS GOOD JOB

POSTMASTERS IN THE FOURTHCLASS MUST TAKE EXAMINATIONS

Postmaster General Burleson and President Wilson Will Force Postmasters Protected by Taft to Prove Competency

EXECUTIVE ORDER TO BE ISSUED IMMEDIATELY

The New Order Also Places the Age Limit for Appointees at Sixty-five Years, Amending Taft's Order

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 7.—After a conference with President Wilson today, Postmaster General Burleson announced that an executive order would be issued requiring that all fourth-class postmasters now in office or candidates for prospective appointments should be subjected to a competitive examination to determine their fitness for the office.

The postmaster general issued a statement explaining the purpose of the new executive order declaring that President Taft's action in putting the fourth-class postmasters in the classified service was not sufficient and that the mere placing of a great horde of persons in the classified service was not in conformity with the spirit of the civil service as there was no way to determine the merits of the applicants.

The new order, which substantially amends the Taft executive order, retains in the classified service all fourth-class postmasters in the service, but specifically requires a competitive examination and a selection by postoffice inspectors from among the first three eligible applicants. The order places the age limit for appointees at sixty-five years.

Mr. Burleson, in his discussion of the situation, indicated that the Wilson administration wishes to take the fourth-class postmasters out of politics but points out that Democrats as well as Republicans will have an opportunity under competitive examinations to show their fitness.

Second and Third Class Offices Under Order Soon

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Postmaster General Burleson announced today that it was the purpose of President Wilson and himself to take into the classified service probably during the next year all postmasters of the second and third classes. Fourth class offices already have been covered by executive order.

SAVANNAH ASKS FOR AN ADDITIONAL U. S. JUDGE

Lawyers in Washington Confer With Georgia Delegation Over New District

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—At a conference today with practically all of the Georgia congressional delegation and a committee of Savannah lawyers, the creation of an additional federal judge in Georgia was considered.

As a result of the discussion, the delegation passed a resolution requesting the Savannah lawyers to submit in writing a bill and facts to sustain their contention that an additional judge is needed.

Senator Bacon and Congressman Howard were the only members of the delegation absent from the conference. They were unavoidably detained. Senator Smith stated to the meeting that after a conference with Senator Bacon they had agreed to support whatever federal court legislation the house members may agree upon.

The conference was enlivened by the unanimous indorsement of Judge Emory Speer's popularity and unpopularity in the southern district.

The Savannah committee came to Washington in the hope of interesting the Georgia congressmen and senators in the creation of an additional district. Divergence of opinion, at the first conference, however, developed the impossibility of an agreement along this line, whereupon, as a basis of compromise, the suggestion was made that an additional judge with headquarters at Savannah, would relieve conditions.

"I gather that you gentlemen are afflicted with a disease and we need local relief, yet are willing that other sections may continue to suffer," said Congressman Tribble, who declared that he would not assent to such a proposition.

The Savannahians disclaimed that such was the case, and asserted that the popularity or unpopularity of Judge Speer should not be considered.

Congressman Roddenbery declared that there was no unpleasant to any arrangement to relieve Savannah from the judge Speer he expected to hear from the constituents in his district. He added that he did not feel like voting for the creation of additional federal jobs in Georgia unless there is a tentative understanding as to how the patronage is to be controlled.

Judge Adamson declared that "if the judge of the southern district is a poor judge that is all the more reason why there should be another federal judge in Georgia, and that if he is a good judge, then another judge is needed just the same."

Discussing the creation of another district, there seemed to be a general objection to any positive agreement as to geographical lines at this time. Senator Smith declared that he felt sure that the people of the northern district, who are in love with Judge Newman, would object seriously to being placed in another jurisdiction.

The lawyers in the Savannah committee declared that the admiralty practice in the federal court had dwindled to nothing, because the federal judge is rarely accessible to give it his attention.

The Savannahians were:

Judge Sam Adams, General Peter W. Meldrim, W. W. Osborne, Ferris Cann, Anton Wright and Mayhew Cunningham.

Three Days of City Life Enough for Country Miss

MISS MAIE ODUM,
Who plays the organ and teaches a class in Sunday school at Standing Rock church, near Senoia, and who is willing to go home with her father. He is coaxing to get her from the police. "I'd rather wash dishes than pack pencils," says she, disillusioned.

THREE days in the city is enough for any girl who has been raised in the country, in the opinion of Miss Maie Odum, twenty years old, who ran away from her home on a farm three miles from Senoia, last Sunday to taste metropolitan life.

Miss Odum was taken into custody by local police Tuesday evening on the request of her father. She is being held in the women's ward at the police station pending the arrival of her parent. When he comes she is going to accompany him back to Senoia. And she will never run away again, she says.

"I just thought I'd like to live in the city and be my own boss," the girl told police officials after her apprehension. "I didn't have any trouble at home, but I had read of the good times girls in cities have, and I got tired of living on the farm. And then I had been to Atlanta before with my folks, and I always had a good time when I was here.

"I'll go back with papa, though, when he comes."

Miss Odum, who is organist in the Standing Rock Methodist church at Senoia, and teaches a class in Sunday school, left for Atlanta with Miss Mary Couch, seventeen-year-old daughter of a neighbor. The two were carrying out a well-laid plan formulated two weeks before. They both went to church on Sunday. Miss Odum played the organ as usual and Miss Couch sat in a pew with her father and mother and the rest of the family. At the conclusion of the services, instead of returning home, however, the two girls walked to Peek's crossing and boarded a train for Atlanta. When their absence was noted they were already speeding on their way to this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Odum and Mr. and Mrs. Couch were perturbed when they found their children missing. Neither family knew what had happened in the other, though, because they live several miles apart and communication is rather slow. The fathers of both had a theory that their girls had come to Atlanta, however.

So Monday Mr. Couch came here. He found his daughter without the aid of the police, and she consented to go back. An hour after Mr. and Miss Couch had left town Mr. Odum arrived. He sought out the police and told them to hunt for his daughter. Then he returned home. He wasn't sure she was here.

"It was thoughtless of us not to leave a note telling them not to worry," said Miss Odum, who doesn't seem to be bothered much about her incarceration at the police station Wednesday morning. "If papa had known we were here he would have saved so much trouble."

Miss Odom found work. That is, she got a job, but she worked only part of one day. The runaway girls didn't have much money when they arrived here. In fact, they had less than a dollar.

"Maie had six dollars which she had saved up and we spent more than five of that for train fare," is the way Miss Odum explained it at police headquarters.

Miss Odum didn't know anybody here. But her companion had a friend. Miss Tully Caldwell. When they got into Atlanta Sunday evening they sought her out. Miss Caldwell proved a true friend. She got the girls a room in the house where she boarded at 74 Nelson street, and later got Mamie a job.

"I was only going to make four dollars a week at first," said the girl. "I didn't intend to stick to that job long, though. I was going to get something with more money in it.

"It's just as well the way it came out, I guess," she concluded. "The country is just as good as the city, even if we do have theaters and grand opera and excitement here. I'd just about as soon wash dishes at home as work in a factory all day. When papa comes I'll go back with him.

"I hope he won't be 'cross.'"

ESTHER MITCHELL, LAST OF TRAGIC QUADRIANGLE, COMMITS SUICIDE

Pretty Lin Toy, Ruler of Vancouver's Chinatown, Proves to Be the Mitchell Girl Over Whom Three Lost Lives in Seattle

(By Associated Press.)

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, May 7.—Lin Toy, the pretty girl who ruled Vancouver's Chinatown and who committed suicide here Monday, was in reality Esther Mitchell, central figure in one of the most sensational criminal cases in Seattle's history, according to evidence brought out at the coroner's inquest yesterday.

In 1905 after Miss Mitchell ran away from her home at Corvallis, Ore., in company with Franz E. Crefeld, a leader of a "holy roller" sect, George Mitchell, a brother of the girl, followed them to Seattle and shot and killed Crefeld in a crowded business street.

After a sensational trial Mitchell was acquitted. When he went to the train to return to his home in Oregon, his sister went to the station to bid him good-by.

As he turned to go, his sister shot him through the head. She was tried for murder and acquitted on an insanity plea and sent to the Western Washington hospital for the insane, where she remained until 1909, when she escaped and disappeared.

Two years ago it was reported she was living in Chinatown, but no effort was made to apprehend her.

Mrs. Crefeld, who accompanied her husband and Esther Mitchell in their flight from Corvallis, was arrested as an accomplice of the murder of George Mitchell, but committed suicide while in the jail awaiting trial.

Len Toy, as Esther Mitchell was known after her flight to Vancouver, was a power in the Chinese quarter and ruled like a queen. She was a member of a secret society and it is believed fear of revenge for some wrong she was accused of by the band caused her to commit suicide.

SHOOTS MAN TO DEATH; IS KILLED BY SHERIFF

Officer Is Also Dangerously Wounded As He Attempts Arrest

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

VIENNA, Ga., May 7.—A fatal shooting affray occurred near Pilkingtons still, Dooly county, Wednesday, in which Oscar Blow was shot to death by Sheriff Bennett and his deputies, while resisting arrest and the sheriff seriously wounded by a bullet in the stomach.

The sheriff and deputies had gone to arrest Blow, who had, it is allegeo, killed P. P. Sangster, early Wednesday. Blow rode up to his home just as the sheriff and deputies arrived.

The sheriff ordered him to throw up his hands, and Blow immediately fired upon the officers, wounding the sheriff. Blow was killed instantly, it is supposed, by the sheriff.

Both Blow and Sangster, the man first killed, were farmers of the Sixth district. There had been trouble between them for some time. Sheriff Bennett was taken to a farm house near the scene of the tragedy. He is under the attention of physicians.

Judge George has adjourned superior court for the day.

TWO NEW WITNESSES IN PHAGAN MYSTERY TO TESTIFY THURSDAY

Detectives Said to Attach Much Importance to Testimony That Two Girls Will Give When Inquest Resumes

INQUEST WILL BE ENDED THURSDAY, SAYS DONEHOO

Paul P. Bowen Has Been Released by Houston Officials—Chief Detective and 14 Policemen Are Discharged

Two new witnesses, whom the detectives have recently found, are expected to give testimony of importance at the final session of the Phagan inquest Thursday.

One of these witnesses is Miss Grace Hix, of 100 McDonough road, daughter of James E. Hix. Miss Hix worked at the same machine with Mary Phagan, but has not been to the factor ysince the latter was slain. Miss Hix was closeted for two hours with the detectives Tuesday evening, but it is not known just what her testimony will be. Mary Phagan was killed, but did not see her, according to a statement she made to a Journal reporter Wednesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

"The last time I saw Mary Phagan was on the Monday before she was killed," said Miss Hix. "That was the day she got layed off. I was uptown Saturday, the day she was killed, but I did not see her."

The name of the other witness has not been learned. That witness, a young woman, who works at the factory, will testify, according to the same report, that on the Saturday that Mary Phagan met her death, she (the witness) went to the factory to get her own envelope. According to the report the young woman will testify that she went to Superintendent Frank's office between 12:10 and 12:20 o'clock the time Mary Phagan is supposed to have gone for her pay) and waited about five minutes.

TO FINISH INQUEST.

The coroner's inquest will be concluded Thursday, according to Coroner Paul Donehoo. The inquest has been probably the most thorough and exhaustive ever conducted in Georgia, the jurors having spent many hours in listening to testimony in the case and now the coroner is determined that the inquest itself shall be concluded at Thursday's session and the jurors relieved from further duty in the case.

It is probable that the body of little Mary Phagan interred at Marietta a week ago will be again exhumed before the final session of the jury. It is said that one important point has now not been fully covered by the examination and this will necessitate the lifting of Mary Phagan's body from the grave a second time. Before any action is taken, however, the parents of the slain girl will be consulted. It is probable that Dr. Harris, the county physician, and Dr. H. F. Harris, of the state board of health, will make the second examination.

It was reported that the principal reason for exhuming the body again is to get some of the hair from the murdered girl's head which will be microscopically compared with the hair found in the metal room at the pencil factory. It is understood that the hair which was in possession of the detectives has been lost.

Officials will make no definite statement relative to the second examination of the girl's body, but it was learned from the coroner that at noon Wednesday the physicians, who are to make the examination, had no started for Marietta. It is said to be practically certain, however, that the body will be exhumed before the convening of the final session of the inquest.

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST BOWEN.

A development of interest in the case is the release of Paul Eeniston Bowen, the former Atlantian, who was arrested in Houston, Texas, as a suspect in the Phagan case. The release of Bowen carries out the prediction made Tuesday afternoon by The Journal, when after a vigorous investigation The Journal was able to show that it was practically impossible for Bowen, who left here about nine months ago, to have been in Atlanta or Georgia at the time of the murder.

Young Bowen is well and favorably known in Atlanta, where he worked for several years and has many friends here, who have received letters from him recently. He comes originally from Newnan, where his family is prominent. Interesting in connection with Bowen's

"HIGHER UPS" CONVICTED IN N. Y. POLICE SCANDAL

Four Inspectors Convicted of Conspiracy to Obstruct Justice

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 7.—Until sentence is passed next Friday no one knows just what move will be made by counsel for the defense in the case of the four former police inspectors—Sweeney, Thompson, Hussey and Murtha—all found guilty last night of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Each faces a year in prison and each is also under indictment for bribery. It was intimated at the district attorney's office today that it may rest with the defendants themselves whether they are to be tried on the bribery charge.

If their lawyers make a fight against the verdict just returned it is understood that District Attorney Whitman will press the bribery cases, which involve a felony, and carry, on conviction, a much heavier sentence than the prisoners now face. If on the other hand, the defendants expiate the crime of which they now stand convicted, Mr. Whitman may not push the remaining cases.

The conviction of the demoted police inspectors, Dennis Sweeney, James E. Hussey, James F. Thompson and John J. Murtha, on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice, by a jury which required less than forty minutes to reach its verdict last night, was declared by District Attorney Charles S. Whitman today to be likely to lead to "still more important work" in clearing the police situation. No explanation, however, of what further actionsis contemplated was forthcoming.

The results thus far of the ten months' war to end the police system's "carnival of graft" have included the conviction of or pleas of guilty by ten policemen and the conviction of several associates in crime.

The list begins with Lieutenant Charles Becker, who was convicted last October of the instigation of the murder of Herman Rosenthal in July, because the latter threatened to expose police graft. In November four gunmen were convicted of the same crime and sent to Sing Sing where, with Becker, they are under death sentences.

The Becker-Rosenthal case led to a general investigation of the sale of police protection for vice and crime. Revelation were made which forced Policeman Eugene Fox and Captain Thomas W. Walsh to pleas of guilty of bribery; a confession to grafting by Policeman James E. Wrenn, the conviction of John J. Hartigan, a patrolman, on charges of perjury, the conviction of Policeman Thomas F. Robinson on charges of extortion and the conviction yesterday of the four demoted police inspectors on charges of conspiracy in plotting to buy the silence of a witness against them.

GIRL LEAVES HOME AND ELUDES SEARCHERS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WAYCROSS, Ga., May 7.—Somewhere in the vicinity of Waycross, unless she has been lured away by unknown parties, Miss Lee Hall, a pretty fifteen-year-old girl, daughter of J. L. Hall, is wandering, her mind apparently blank. She left her home early yesterday, eluding her father and a party of neighbors, who tried to catch her.

The girl is described as being of medium height, light hair, blue eyes, fair skin and weight a little over a hundred. When last seen she wore a black skirt, light shirtwaist and white hat. Officers of all towns within a radius of fifty miles have been aiding the father in his search, acting on the suggestion that the girl may have been lured away by some one, police in the larger cities will be asked to be on the lookout for the girl.

CHATTANOOGA TO HAVE NEW "RIVERSIDE DRIVE"

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 7.—Chattanooga's new "Riverside drive," which will extend from the old corporation limits on Harrison avenue to the north terminal of the crest road on Missionary Ridge now seems assured. All that is necessary for the building of the roadway is the ratification of the bond issue which has already been authorized by the legislature, with referendum attached. The East Chattanooga Business league, the civic organization of the suburb which will be most directly affected, has gone on record as favoring the roadway. It will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000.

Four Cigar Factories and Many Small Plants Are Destroyed

(By Associated Press.)

KEY WEST, Fla., May 7.—One hundred thousand dollars' damage was done, and several hundred men and women thrown out of employment when fire early this morning destroyed four cigar factories, three sponge houses, two lumber sheds and several smaller buildings.

The fire was discovered in the factory of the Key West Cigar company, and spread rapidly, for a time threatening the lower business section of the city. A branch factory of E. H. Gato, and the Wolf Brothers and Principe de Golfo factories were also burned. John Lowe, Jr., owned most of the buildings and is the heaviest loser.

MACON LOCKER CLUBS MAY BE CLOSED ON SUNDAYS

City Attorney Lane Holds That Council Can Close Places

MACON, Ga., May 7.—The locker clubs of Macon may be forced before much longer to close their doors all day Sundays. Alderman P. L. Hay offered a resolution several weeks ago, following the mayor's order for the clubs to close every night at 1dnight, that the clubs be ordered closed all day Sundays. The matter was referred to the police committee, who in turn asked the advice of the city attorney about forcing the clubs to remain closed on Sunday.

Last night City Attorney Andrew Lane ruled that council had a right to force the clubs to close, provided an ordinance was drafted to that effect. Now this committee will draw a new ordinance, and it is probable that when a vote is taken on the proposition, Macon will be dry on Sundays.

NAVAL STORES FACTORS REACH WORKING PLAN

Rosins Will Be Kept at Ports and Controlled by Factor and Producer

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 7.—The naval stores factors who are interested in the naval stores business in Savannah yesterday afternoon worked out an agreement by which they hope to carry on the factorage and producing business at a profit. There was perfected yesterday an understanding by which rosins can be kept at the ports and sold at the wish of the factor and the producer. Heretofore the sales have been largely controlled by the American Naval Stores company, which recently went into liquidation.

"The American has ceased to be a factor in the naval stores trade," said one of the most interested parties to the agreement of yesterday. "We do not consider that organization any further. It is going into liquidation, and as soon as its outstanding obligations and agreements are concluded it will be a thing of the past. We will work out ends on some other basis than through consideration of the American and its influence."

A Bright Young Lady Hits on a Plan to Get Her Friends to Help Her Out on Titles.

Among the visitors to Campaign Headquarters yesterday, there was one young lady who has a bright plan and the nerve to carry it through. Calling the obliging young clerk in charge of supplies to one side she outlined her plan and, of course, readily secured his consent to carry out her wishes. "Here, Mr. Clerk," said she, "I have a list of pictures that I want you to get me four of each. Now, I want four of your catalogues and wish you would mail them out with a set of these pictures to each one of these addresses. Oh, surely, I will pay the postage. But listen, will you slip one of these notes into each of these catalogues for me? Oh, yes, I know that makes fractions postage, but I will gladly pay it. Here is the note. Do you think it is all right?

Dear Friend: I am in The Journal's Great Booklovers' Campaign and find the enclosed pictures rather too easy a little. I have some possible answers to each of them, but want you to take the time to go through this catalogue carefully and select titles that you think would fit these pictures and write them down on a sheet opposite the number of each picture and mail them to me. Just send the pictures and the answers to me and keep the catalogue, and if you wish to get into the most fascinating game you ever took part in, write to The Journal for the prize pictures up to date, also their four-page circular. The circular is free, but send 2c each for the pictures and then have The Journal mailed to you every day and get the chance of the prizes and all the daily campaign stories. There are 747 prizes and you can have any one of them except the first prize of $1,000, as I want that for myself. At any rate, kindly look into these pictures and I assure you that I will appreciate anything you can do for me. Yours sincerely,

M188 M. E. K.

STATE WARDEN GOING TO LAWLESS SECTION SOON

Mr. Mercer Tells Facts of Situation Near Milltown—Will Remedy It

Following a long conference with State Game Warden Jesse E. Mercer in his office in the state capitol, Wednesday morning, M. F. Boisclair, who was sent to Milltown, Berrien county, for the purpose of investigating the conditions there in reference to fishing rights in the pond known as the Banks estate, and who was arrested at the order of the mayor for his activities, declared that he would accompany Mr. Mercer to the scene of the trouble when the latter makes the trip next week.

Mr. Mercer is free to admit that the situation in this south Georgia county is of the gravest nature and must be handled with the utmost tact and in a manner that will not incite further demonstration on the part of residents.

Governor Brown stated that he had not yet formally discussed the situation with Mr. Mercer, but indicated that they would have a conference prior to the departure of the game warden for Berrien county. It is not known when this conference will take place.

When Mr. Mercer leaves Atlanta he will be accompanied by competent lawyers, besides Mr. Boisclair. He expressed the determination to employ the best legal talent and to spare no expense in settling the disturbance once and for all.

WARDEN MERCER'S STATEMENT.

After his conference with Mr. Boisclair, Game Warden Mercer gave out the following statement to The Journal:

"Mr. Boisclair was not assaulted at Nashville, but at Milltown. He declares that he was nicely treated by the county officials and by the people at Nashville.

"Mr. Boisclair is a high-toned, honorable, sensible and courageous man, and one of the most efficient wardens this department has had as county warden of Whitfield county the first year of the game law administration. I selected him to go to Berrien county because of my confidence in his good sense and tact, and because I knew that I would get the truth of the situation through him.

"Mr. Boisclair said: 'I went to Milltown and the Banks pond April 22, and for several days I busied myself studying the situation and the people without disclosing my mission or identity.

"'Before I made an arrest or announced my mission I realized that there was a conflict and a controversy of long standing between the owners of the Banks pond and mill site and people who owned some of the land covered by the water of the pond.

"'I soon realized also that the great abundance of fish in the large pond was a sore temptation to the people in that section, many of whom had no rights or claims as to "land ownership."

ADMITS ERROR, MAYBE.

"'After I had secured the names and necessary data on which to base prosecution in nineteen instances, I probably made the mistake to include in the number two or three parties who probably have legal rights in the pond. Of this I am not sure, but as a stranger I did what appeared to be my duty in the case.

"'There are certainly some very tough and lawless people about the pond, and they, of course, are the instigators of all the trouble.

"'As soon as I announced my purpose they set about inflaming the public mind, and I was constantly cautioned that my life was in danger, that I would be shot from ambush or mobbed at night in the home of Mr. Berryhill or assassinated openly on the streets or road. At first I did not take the reports seriously, but I soon realized that there was a sufficient number of the desperate characters to warrant caution on my part, at least.

"'I was told by several, at least one of them an official, that the justice of peace before whom I had sworn out the warrants had announced that he would not bind any of the parties over, and I of course understood then that it would be folly to go to trial before him. The cases were set for trial Saturday morning, and I went to the justice of the peace at the justice court house, although I had been warned not to go to Milltown, which is two miles away from the pond where I was staying. I saw the justice, who was on the front porch of the court room, and told him that I had decided to dismiss the warrants or withdraw them.

MAYOR STARTED ABUSE.

"'The mayor of the town who was standing on the porch, immediately began to abuse me. I did not know who he was, but he was one of the defendants.

"'In a moment after I approached the justice, two or three hundred people gathered around where I stood, and with the mayor leading the assault on me with gestures and vile epithets the crowd became menacing.

"'When I refused to be provoked into a difficulty with the mayor, realizing that discretion was the only sensible course, he ordered my arrest and the clay marshall standing by placed me under arrest and immediately searched me, looking for my pistol on the right side. I told him that I was left handed and that my pistol was in the left hand pocket. Nobody had seen my pistol or had reason to believe that I had one, except as a mere surmise.

"'But for the timely arrival of County Warden T. J. Luke, of Fitzgerald, I would have been put in jail, as they required two names on the bond and I knew only one man in the crowd.

"'At Nashville, after leaving Milltown, I swore out the warrants before the justice in that district, where I am sure the law will be vindicated.'

"Of the truthfulness of the above statement there is not the slightest doubt in the mind of any man who knows Mr. Boisclair," said Mr. Mercer.

THE DEPUTY QUITS.

"I have just received the resignation, return of commission and badge of my deputy warden at Milltown, who declares that he cannot hold the job and live in that county.

"It is a serious matter to contemplate such a state of lawlessness in any community in Georgia, and it is my sworn duty to meet the situation with firmness and with the purpose of upholding the law.

"A good citizen writes that he has never seen a man treated as badly as the people of Milltown treated Mr. Boisclair. 'The mayor, Bill Pafford, ordered him arrested and searched when he had not done anything to justify it. They treated him as though he was a dog,' he writes.

"With the utmost faith in the dominance o fine good people of Berrien county and without a doubt as to the outcome, I am going to Nashville and Milltown next week, and shall attend the trials and arrange for the enforcement of the law as it applies to the Banks pound."

CHILDREN HATE CASTOR OIL, UGH!

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the physic that mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With your children it's different. The day of harsh physic is over. We don't force the liver and 20 feet of bowels now; we coax them. We have no dreaded after effects. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their little stomachs and tender bowels are injured by them.

If your child is fretful, peevish, half sick, stomach sour, breath feverish and its little system full of cold; has diarrhoea, sore throat, stomach-ache; don't eat or rest well—remember—look at the tongue, if coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, then don't worry, because you surely will have a well, smiling child in a few hours.

Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics simply cannot be harmful. It sweetens the stomach, makes the liver active and thoroughly cleanses the little one's wasted bowels. In a few hours all sour bile, undigested fermenting food and constipated waste matter gently moves on and out of the system without griping or nausea.

Directions for children of all ages, also grown-ups, plainly printed on the package.

By all means get the genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna" prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. Accept nothing else.

BIDS BEING CONSIDERED ON AUTO FIRE APPARATUS

Board of Firemasters Open Five Proposals, and Meet Again Wednesday Night

Bids on an automobile fire apparatus for the new Tenth ward station were opened by the board of firemasters Tuesday night and referred to a subcommittee consisting of Alderman Ragsdale, Councilman Humphrey and Councilman Boynton. The board will meet again Wednesday night to hear the report of this subcommittee and to decide, if they can, which bid to accept.

There are five bids in all, and they run as follows:

American La France company, $9,000.

Ahrens-Fox company, $9,500; Scott company, $7,500 for four-cylinder engine and $9,000 for six-cylinder engine; Robinson company, $9,000 for six-cylinder engine and $8,500 for four-cylinder engine, with a 2 per cent discount for cash on both bids; Webb company, $8,550 for six-cylinder engine and $8,100 for four-cylinder engine.

The city's specifications call for a triple combination apparatus, which is one combining the three features of a pumping engine, a chemical equipment and hose wagon.

The pump must have a capacity of delivering 700 gallons of water per minute.

JOURNAL ASKED TO GIVE EGG HUNT AGAIN IN 1914

Park Board Thanks Committee Which Managed Big Hunt Last Saturday

The park board Tuesday afternoon gave a rising vote of thanks to the committee which managed the details of the big Easter egg hunt held in Grant park last Saturday under the joint auspices of the board and The Atlanta Journal, and adopted a resolution requesting The Journal to join with the board in giving a hunt next year.

The committee reported that 20,000 children went to the hunt last Saturday and that it was the most successful on record. The report went into details concerning the expenses of the hunt, the amounts subscribed by various parties, and thanked everyone who helped to make the hunt a success.

Among the other matters discussed by the park board, music in the parks during the summer months was probably the most important. The board indorsed a resolution introduced in council last Monday by Councilman Ashley to appropriate $5,000 for this purpose, and Messrs. Green, Burnett and Wilby were named a committee of three to go before the finance committee and urge that this amount be provided in the June budget.

An increase in Park Manager Dan Carey's salary from $2,100 to $2,750 per year was again recommended to the finance committee, and the board will ask for additional appropriations for Piedmont and Grant parks in the June budget.

Joe Bean was recommended by Manager Carey for supervisor of playgrounds, and was confirmed by the board. Manager Carey considers the playgrounds fortunate in securing Mr. Bean's services. He is the physical director at Marist college and at the Atlanta Athletic club, and ranks among the leaders in this line of work in the south.

CAMPAIGN IS ON TO LAND BANKERS' MEETING

Mr. Ottley's Invitation Backed by Clearing House and Chamber of Commerce

Every effort is being made by the chamber of commerce, the Atlanta Clearing House association and other local bodies to obtain the 1914 convention of the American Bankers' association for Atlanta.

As announced Tuesday, the local association has already authorized John K. Ottley, a member of the executive council, which is now in session in Briarcliff, N. Y., to invite the bankers to Atlanta.

The American Bankers' association is probably the most representative body of financial men in the world. There are over 13,000 members.

Ivan E. Allen, president of the convention bureau of the chamber of commerce, thinks Atlanta can land the convention, and he says that Mr. Ottley has been promised the co-operation of the chamber of commerce to this end.

The next meeting will be held in Boston, and in 1915 the bankers will meet in San Francisco. This leaves 1914 open.

Colonel R. J. Lowry was once president of the association, and this fact will be of great aid to Atlantians who are working to get the 1914 convention here.

It is pointed out that it is of the greatest importance to get these representative men to Atlanta and show them what the city has to offer to outside capital.

FORREST ADAIR ANSWERS THAT MEMPHIS SHRINER

"If I Won, I'd Have to Walk With Him to See That He Walked," Says He

Forrest Adair, potentate of Yaarab temple, of Atlanta, has replied to O. K. Houck, of Memphis, who wants to bet that Memphis will get the 1914 Shrine convention.

As published Wednesday morning, Mr. Houck offers to walk from Dallas, Texas, where the 1913 Shrine convention meets next week, all the way back to Memphis if Atlanta gets the convention.

Whereas, if Memphis gets the convention, Mr. Adair is to walk from Dallas to Memphis.

Mr. Adair's reply is this:

"What's the use of taking him up on such a bet? If I won, I'd have to walk along with him to see that he complied with the terms of the bet, so that, whichever city won the convention, I'd have to count the crossties just the same."

The Memphis Shriners are quoted as saying that Mr. Adair is telling everybody there's nothing to it but Atlanta. They're not far wrong.

Mr. Adair is just that confident.

More than half the representatives to the Dallas convention have assured him they will vote for Atlanta.

The Shrine convention has never been to the southeast, and Atlanta is, of course, the natural city to select when it comes into this territory.

Atlanta has the hotel facilities. Mr. Adair has signed contracts for all the rooms necessary to house the Shriners, and they know if they come here they will be taken care of.

Also, and best of all, the raising of more than $75,000 in one day in Atlanta to entertain the convention has thrilled the Shriners throughout the country, and they want to come and see the city that offers so convincing an evidence of its desire to entertain them.

REVIVAL CONTINUES AT WEST END CHURCH

Rev. John T. Hawkins Will Preach Wednesday Evening on "The First Believer"

The revival services continue at the West End Christian church, Rev. John T. Hawkins preaching daily at 8 p. m. The subject for Wednesday evening will be, "The First Believer." On Monday evening the subject was, "The Purpose of Punishment," the sermon was in part as follows:

"The Lord loveth whom He chasteneth; and neither the state nor the parent should punish in anger. The true motive is not to satisfy anger, but to aid.

"But the chief motive of punishment

"The universe is harmoniously arranged on principle and to prevent discords, disobedience is punished. Punishment has an educational value, and in the physical, social and moral world we learn by the experience of suffering the meaning of right and wrong. Punishment tends also to prevent the innocent from sinning.

formed, the chief purpose of punishment is that the sinner may be brought back into harmony with law. In placing the guilty man in prison and dismissing him a bitter enemy of society, we may express the anger of society and warn others; but unless the erring is reformed, the chief purpose of punishment is defeated."

Edgar Watkins, attorney, delivered the principal address at the graduation exercises of the Southern College of Medicine and Surgery at the Grand opera house Tuesday night.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Dr. S. R. Belk, pastor of the Park street Methodist church. Dr. W. R. Lingo, the dean, made his formal report and Dr. Henry Bak delivered the diplomas.

There were fifteen graduates.

COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER BATTLE SEMI-CENTENNIAL

A committee of five, authorized by a conference Tuesday afternoon in the chamber of commerce, will determine whether or not Atlanta wants to pause next year long enough to remember and commemorate the past of fifty years ago.

Upon the report of that committee will be settled for a generation to come the question of whether or not Atlanta's battlefields shall be marked appropriately and be made into an attraction for the interest of residents and the eyes of tourists.

President Wilmer L. Moore, of the chamber of commerce, presided over the conference Tuesday, called by the chamber of commerce under authority of a resolution by the board of directors. The semi-centennial of the Battle of Atlanta will occur on July 22, 1914. The board of directors wished the conference to determine whether or not the occasion shall be celebrated.

Present were a number of those whom the chamber had invited. The majority, however, pleaded previous engagements or pressing business. But the Confederate veterans, practically to a man, were there.

President Moore stated the purpose of the conference and called for discussion. General A. J. West, of Atlanta, spoke first, feelingly, declaring that the battlefield of Atlanta is about to become obscured by time and lost to posterity. A city rich in historic and folk associations is disregarding them, he declared.

Mrs. William McCarthy, local president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, added the hearty indorsement of the organization which she represented. Fred Houser spoke for the Atlanta convention bureau, and Mrs. Dalton Mitchell, registrar, for the U. D. C. again. Captain Charles Haskin, member of the G. A. R., was another speaker. E. H. Goodhart, president of the Atlanta Ad Men's club, voiced the cordial indorsement and promised the active co-operation of that organization.

The motion to refer the matter to a committee of five, for report at a later meeting, was offered by Captain Ed L. Wight.

Rheumatic Blood is Whole Story

Sciatics, Lumbago, and Dreaded Articular Rheumatism Cured.

You Will Feel Like an Acrobat After Using S. S. S.

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what-not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential in being a natural medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilative antidote. True, the pains may be eased with narcotics or the acids may be neutralized for the time being. But such methods merely temporize and do not even lead to a cure. There is but one standard rheumatism remedy, and is sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S.

It contains only pure vegetable elements and is absolutely free of mercury, iodide of potash or arsenic, and has proved a wonder for every form of rheumatism.

The recoveries of all types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a fine tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as specifically, and just as well ordained as the most acceptable, most palatable and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a great specialist confidentially, write to The Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Oh! My Back!

A stubborn backache that hangs on, week after week, is cause to suspect kidney trouble, for when the kidneys are inflamed and swollen, bending the back brings a sharp twinge that almost takes the breath away.

It's hard to work and just as hard to rest or sleep.

COMPANY PREPARED TO LEND ON FARM LANDS

Necessary Loan Connections Perfected by Southern Guarantee and Investment Co.

Burton Smith, general counsel, and C. T. Phillips, a director of the Southern Guarantee and Investment company, of Atlanta, returned Wednesday from New York, where loan connections for the company were made.

They announce that they are now prepared to place loans on Georgia farm lands and will receive applications in their offices in the Third National Bank building.

The company, as previously announced, w asorganized early in the spring, with Sidney J. Stubbs, of Douglas, as president; W. J. Speer, vice president; Calvin M. Hitch, secretary and treasurer, and a board of directors composed of leading business men from every section of the state.

Shortly after the organization, Jesse E. Mercer, chairman of the company's executive committee; C. T. Phillips and Burton Smith went east to perfect connections already under way. Mr. Mercer returned a few days ago and Messrs. Smith and Phillips Wednesday. The result of the trip is that the company is now prepared to do business.

The scope of the company and its resources are explained by Mr. Smith as follows:

"Our plan of a company with stockholders and directors in every part of the state appealed to capitalists looking for farm loans. We have arranged with W. L. Rucker, of 52 Wall street, New York, to act as our eastern agent. Through him we have made connections in St. Louis and Chicago for insurance money as an outlet for the next few months, and with French bankers as an additional permanent connection.

"In the present year we expect to place from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 in loans. The representative of the French bankers—the French, by the way, having heavy investments in American farm loans—whom we met in Chicago, tells us that until we have developed a large office force and system of inspection we cannot supply good loans as fast as they will want them, and that they can absorb all the firstclass loans we will offer. We are looking for good loans just as we are looking for lenders."

COUNTY GIVES $600 TO FIGHT ON CONSUMPTION

One application for an appropriation was granted and action on another postponed until the next meeting, when the board of county commissioners met in the courthouse Wednesday morning.

The application of H. M. Willett, president of the Atlanta Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Nurse association, for an annuity of $1,200 for the organization, was acted upon favorably, though the amount granted was half of that asked.

Action on the application of a committee from the Home for Old Women for an appropriation of $2,000 was postponed until the next meeting of the board.

CENTRAL SUNDAY SCHOOL TO MEET UPSTAIRS

The Sunday school of Central Baptist church has outgrown the assembly hall downstairs and, beginning with next Sunday morning, will assemble for its opening and closing exercises in the main auditorium of the church. The Sunday school auditorium, having a low, flat roof, was uncomfortably warm and the move upstairs will be appreciated by the entire school.

At a meeting of the board of deacons of the church held last Monday night some definite steps were taken regarding the new building, which is to stand on the corner of Cooper and Whitehall streets. Within the next few days the committee in charge expects to be able to announce some very interesting plans of work. It has not ben given out as absolutely sure, but those who are supposed to know say that work on the new building, which will be one of the great buildings of the city and south, will begin inside the next thirt ydays.

SHREVEPORT SHRINERS TO BOOST "ATLANTA 1914"

Atlanta Delegation to Get Royal Welcome in Louisiana en Route to Dallas

That Shreveport's delegation to the Dallas convention of the Shriners is another which is going to vote for "Atlanta, 1914," is the information received by Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau, in a letter from a personal friend in the Louisiana city.

Not only that, but the Shreveport Shriners are going to show the Atlanta delegation a high old time during the few hours that the latter stop there on their way to Dallas. The Atlantians will arrive in Shreveport Saturday night at 8:55 o'clock. "The local committee is planning a royal time for you," writes Mr. Houser's correspondent, who is C. O. PRIZE WINNERS SOLD AT WASHINGTON HORSE SHOW

President Wilson Expected to Be Present at Concluding Day of Show

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The fourth and concluding day of the national horse show brought a large gathering.

Preceding the sale, however, there was an interesting card with several "over the jumps" events included.

The president's flag was run up early over the box set aside for President Wilson, who has sought to attend the meet on preceding days, but has been prevented by the press of public business. It was expected he would attend today, although members of his family have represented the White House during the exhibition.

GOV. BROWN HAS DISPOSED OF DR. M'NAUGHTON CASE

Will Take No Further Action, He Says—Respite Carries It Over to Successor

Governor Joseph M. Brown is firm in his stand to grant no further respite to Dr. W. J. McNaughton, convicted of the slaying of Fred Flanders. The date set for McNaughton's execution is September 5, at which time J. M. Slaton will be in office.

During Tuesday Rev. John S. Wilder, of Savannah, held a short conference with the governor, but without immediate result. It is understood that Mr. Wilder attempted to secure a full and unconditional pardon for the convicted man, but that he made no progress in the attempt.

Governor Brown admits that he had given his visitor to understand that he would take no more action in the case.

In speaking of the matter, the governor said that he had respited Dr. McNaughton until September 5 in order to give time for the often postponed trial of Mrs. Mattie Flanders, jointly indicted with Dr. McNaughton for the murder of her husband. "I could not consistently change my position," said Governor Brown, "and the matter shall stand just where it is now. In granting the respite until the day mentioned I took into consideration my successor and the duties that would devolve upon him during the session of the general assembly. When the legislature adjourns he will have over two weeks in which to go into the merits of the case and act as he sees fit. My action is final."

MR. J. W. HENDERSON OF MARIETTA IS DEAD

Pioneer and Wealthy Citizen of Cobb County Succumbs in Ninetieth Year

Mr. J. W. Henderson, perhaps the oldest and the wealthiest citizen of Cobb county, died at his home on Henderson street, in Marietta, on Wednesday morning. He was in his ninetieth year.

Mr. Henderson was born in 1824 near Power's ferry in Cobb county. He can remember Atlanta when the Indians camped on the present site of the union depot.

He served four years in the civil war as first sergeant in Leyden's artillery, seeing service in Tennessee and Virginia. He was stranded in Richmond a year after the war, owing to the demoralized railroad service, but returned to Marietta. With the exception of the time he spent in the war, he had lived at Marietta since 1850.

Returning to Marietta a year after the war, with $200 he had saved while working in Richmond, he gradually built up a contracting and undertaking business, at which he prospered until his retirement from active business twenty years ago. He left a large fortune.

He is survived by his second wife and two children, Mrs. George Duke, of Dunwoody, and C. E. Henderson, of Marietta, and ten grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist church in Marietta Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. George Duvall, of the Methodist church, and Rev. J. H. Patten, of the Presbyterian church, will conduct the service. The interment will be in the Citizens' cemetery.

Home for "Incorrigible" Women Is Favored

Marion Jackson, chairman of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, appeared before the board of county commissioners Wednesday afternoon in an effort to secure an appropriation for a home for "incorrigible women." Mr. Jackson contended that the stockade was no place for them and that even now it is crowded. He declared such a place was absolutely necessary and should be given serious consideration. The matter was deferred for future action.

RESIDENTS OBJECT TO MAUSOLEUM'S LOCATION

When application was made before the county commissioners Wednesday morning to build the mausoleum on Cascade avenue, opposite Greenwood cemetery, Aldine Chambers, representing 110 property owners in that vicinity, entered a formal protest against it.

The Atlanta Mausoleum company contended that the site is a good one for the structure and that it would serve as a chapel for funerals conducted at the cemetery.

On the other hand, Mr. Chambers pointed out that his clients considered two cemeteries and a tuberculosis camp already too much for one locality. The hearing was postponed until May 15.

FIELD DAY EXERCISES TO OCCUR SATURDAY

Interesting Program Has Been Arranged for Children in Public Schools

The annual field day exercises of the children of the Atlanta grammar schools will take place Saturday at Ponce de Leon. Dr. Theo Toepel, physical director of the public school, has arranged the program which embraces many interesting features that will be enjoyed by both children and spectators.

A flag drill of 2,700 little tots is the most attractive event of the program. The procession will be headed by Camp W. H. T. Walker, U. C. V.

Between the hours of 9 a. m. and noon there will be competitive work in athletics by both boys and girls and this will be followed by running races between the pupils of the second, third and fourth grades.

At 3:30 o'clock the drill by the children of the fourth grades, about 1,500 in number, will take place.

OFFICERS EXCHANGE SHOTS WITH NEGRO BURGLAR

Officers Anderson, Arnold and Watson exchanged several shots with a negro burglar at 65 Richardson street about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. When the officers reached the house the burglar ran out the front door and immediately began shooting. The officers chased him unsuccessfully about a block and a half down Ira street. Woody Carmichael, a negro, was arrested on suspicion.

EXPECT LARGE AUDIENCE AT JAPANESE LECTURE

Much interest has been manifested in the lecture on Japanese manners and customs to be delivered at Wesley Memorial church Wednesday evening by T. Eight o'clock is the hour.

BUY DIAMONDS BEFORE THE NEW TARIFF ADVANCES PRICES

Under the old Tariff no duty was levied on uncut or "rough" diamonds. Only ten per cent duty was paid on cut or polished diamonds.

The Democratic caucus has just recommended a 20 per cent duty on polished diamonds and 10 per cent on the rough. This new rate will no doubt become effective within the next two or three months.

In addition to this, the big diamond syndicate has raised prices to the cutters since January $15.00 to $30.00 per carat.

This means an advance in the retail market within the next four to six months ranging from $15.00 to $60.00 a carat—according to grades and sizes.

Buy a diamond now on attractive monthly payments and save the advance. Our booklet, "Facts About Diamonds," quotes lowest net prices and gives full particulars regarding our liberal plans.

The Magic of Montenegro.

No circumstance of the Balkan war has appealed so widely or so keenly to the world's imagination and sympathies as the hardihood of little Montenegro in defying the commands of the great Powers. We of America read the foreign dispatches, with their allusions to strange places and people, as though they were intimate letters on events in which we were personally concerned. King Nicholas became a familiar character to be talked of at the breakfast table and his sturdy soldiers, though they camped almost at the other end of the world, were clothed with a vividness like that of the home team. Such is the magic of bravery matched against overwhelming odds.

And when the tidings finally came that Montenegro had yielded, most of us felt a twinge of disappointment and regret. It seemed contrary to all our conceptions of the square deal that the little nation, after fighting gallantly for six months and and after remaining calm and immovable under the threats of combined Europe, should renounce the prize she had so splendidly won. Men on street corners and trolley cars debated as to what would have happened had Montenegro persisted to the end; popular opinion was that she would certainly have come forth with colors flying, and that in any event, the sorry upshot of it all was a shame.

Yet, for the sake of European peace, Montenegro's agreement to evacuate Scutari is perhaps the best thing that could have happened. Had Austrian troops moved into Albania, far-reaching entanglements among the great nations might have followed. Certain it is that the eleventh-hour concession from King Nicholas has served to relieve the high tension of European politics and has restored confidence to financial circles. The gravest crisis to which the entire course of the Balkan gave rise has been passed.

Another meeting of the ambassadorial conference at London will be held Thursday, at which time further plans for the future of Scutari and Albania will be discussed. It has frequently been suggested that Montenegro would be compensated for her surrender of the city. The declaration by King Nicholas, however, held no such conditions. His simple statement was: "My dignity and that of my people do not allow me to submit to isolated orders. I, therefore, place the destiny of Scutari in the hands of the great Powers." By "isolated orders" he alluded, of course, to the policy of Austria; and he seems to have calculated with true discernment that it was more graceful to bow to the will of all the Powers than to yield to a single nation.

Whatever boundaries may finally be established for Albania, whatever disposition may be made of Scutari, whether or not a portion of that territory is allotted to Montenegro, the little mountain kingdom has earned a high and enduring place in the world's admiration.

Don't Weaken the Fly Screen Ordinance.

In behalf of the public's health, it is earnestly to be hoped that the proposal to amend the fly screen ordinance so that restaurants would be exempt from this wise and essential measure will be promptly rejected by Council.

The screen ordinance was passed about two years ago as a sorely needed protection to the purchasers of foodstuffs. It was stoutly resisted by particular interests but the judgment as well as the sentiment of the public was unmistakably behind it. In 1912, fruit dealers were made an exception and were relieved of the requirement to screen their places of business. The result has been distinctly contrary to the consumer's interests. The pending effort to emasculate the ordinance still further should not be given a moment's consideration. Instead, the ordinance should be restored to its original scope and purpose.

Similar laws have long been in force in other progressive communities. Atlanta cannot afford to move backward in any thing that concerns the people's health.

Good Work in the House.

The loyalty with which the Democrats of the House have stood together on the tariff bill establishes a new record for prompt and thoroughgoing legislation. Despite the great pressure that was brought to bear by particular interests, the bill has been sustained at all its vital points; it has undergone only a few minor changes and these were made by its friends. The reduction of duties on many necessaries of life and the removal of duties on others, as in the case of wool and meats, have been supported almost unitedly by the Democrats.

Only the income tax and the administrative features of the measure remain to be considered and these will doubtless be adopted today or tomorrow. The Democracy of the House has kept its faith with the people and has unswervingly lived up to the party's pledges. It is to be hoped that the Democrats of the Senate will do as well and will act as promptly.

Playgrounds In Small Towns.

It is an interesting and significant fact that the Recreation Congress, which is in session this week at Richmond, Va., will give special attention to the subject of playgrounds in towns of fewer than ten thousand inhabitants. Until recent years, playgrounds were considered necessary for only the congested districts of big cities. But as the social value of play has come to be more thoroughly appreciated, the need of well planned and well conducted playgrounds has impressed itself upon a larger and larger number of communities.

The officials of the national Playground and Recreation Association say they are continually receiving inquiries from comparatively small cities *throughout the country as to the best means for es*tablishing and supervising public places of play. This indicates an interest far more inclusive than that which has developed in the larger municipalities. The fact is American towns ranging in population from five to twenty thousand are becoming more and more progressive. They are developing parks and are promoting many other enterprises for their people's health and pleasure.

Children reared in homes that have spacious back-yards or lawns are fortunate but even in such instances there is need for what may be called "organized" play; for, it is only when a child plays with other children under intelligent and sympathetic direction that he gets the full educational and civic value of play.

Nothing adds more to the desirability of a town than a well kept park or a recreation center. It is cheering to know that many Georgia communities are now interested in this field of municipal enterprise. Those that undertake and carry forward such work will be well repaid by an increased population and a quickened progress.

More Music for Atlanta Parks.

The movement to provide Atlanta parks with more music during the summer months deserves Council's hearty support. It is reckoned that *an appro*priation of five thousand dollars would secure concerts at Grant and at Piedmont parks at least four times a week. The pleasure and the general enrichment of the community's life that would thus be afforded would be an ample return for the outlay of this comparatively small sum.

In seasons past concerts have been given at Grant park once a week; and last year they were extended to Piedmont park. The public's response was invariably enthusiastic. The music attracted great crowds and its civic influence was manifestly uplifting.

Atlantians have shown themselves to be a music-loving people. Wherever a band or an orchestra plays, wherever a chorus or a soloist sings, a large audience is assured. Open-air music is particularly appropriate and, indeed, necessary, to the summer season. The parks should provide wholesome recreation as well as grateful shade and coolness; and whatever recreation finer or more widely appealing than music could be devised? It is the breath and the very soul of all amusements and, within itself is sufficient to make a long summer afternoon or evening seem short.

Atlanta cannot deal too generously with its public parks, for they are one of its great assets as a city of homes and home-seekers. They touch the life of the people as a whole, and give a distinction to the community's natural resources and advantages. The parks will be far more valuable and far more attractive, if provided with frequent programs of music throughout the summer. It is to be hoped that the effort to this end recently begun in Council will be pressed speedily forward to success.

American Federation of Art

By Frederic J. Haskin

The American Federation of Art, which will hold its fourth annual convention in Washington on May 14 and 15, has, during its brief existence, accomplished much in the development of public sentiment regarding the art ideals of this nation. As an organization it is broad in its scope, including many matters usually regarded as practical rather than artistic, but the federation shows how these two qualities should be combined. Its stated objects are "To unite in closer fellowship all those who are striving for the development of art in America, either through production or the cultivation of appreciation; to encourage and foster one another; to prevent duplication as far as possible, and to furnish a channel through which public opinion, instrumental in securing better legislation, may find expression." To accomplish these objects it sends out traveling exhibitions, circulates illustrated lectures, maintains a bureau of information in the national capital upon all art subjects, holds an annual convention and publishes "Art and Progress," an illustrated magazine devoted entirely to the development of art sentiment in this country.

* * *

In a sense the Federation of Art is a philanthropic organization, since it is supported by the annual dues of its 176 chapters which are supplemented at times of special need by the contributions and subscriptions of private individuals. The officers who represent the leading artists of the nation are unsalaried, but give of their time and service for the love of art. All the receipts are expended directly to promote and increase the diffusion of knowledge and appreciation of true art in whatever form it may be found.

* * *

One of the most direct efforts of the federation, and one which has given pleasure and profit to thousands of people each year, is the establishment of traveling art exhibits which have visited many towns remote from the art centers and thus given to the people an opportunity to see fine art which otherwise could not have come to them.

* * *

Twenty of these exhibitions have been in circulation this year, including demonstrations of a number of forms of art. Two collections of fine oil paintings were sent upon northwestern and southern circuits. Two water color exhibits, each of which contained pictures by artists of recognized standing, were almost equally popular because of the recent increased interest in water color work. The pictures in all these exhibits were suitably framed and their advent to any town was a matter of general interest.

* * *

Another exhibit consisted of architectural designs of many different kinds of buildings. This was furnished to the federation through the courtesy of the Architects' league, of New York. The designs are calculated to be especially helpful to those towns which are considering the erection of new public buildings. Through the co-operation of the Society of American Illustrators, a collection of over 200 orig*inal drawings selected from the works of the leading* American illustrators also has been arranged for exhibition. Through the agency of the federation this exhibit of illustrative art reached thousands of people during the past six months.

A collection of photographs showing the leading mural paintings in the country accompanied by a number of prints showing the coloring of the designs has given pleasure to those interested in mural art in many towns where little if any of it was to be found. The library of congress co-operated with the federation of Art by providing a collection of mezzo-tint engravings of the great English portrait painters. This exhibit has been especially popular with college towns. An exhibit comprising specimens of the art work done in the public schools, selected from twenty states, has been arranged with much consideration in the belief that it will be of great practical value in developing the school art work in towns remote from the art centers.

As the federation is anxious to promote interest in all kinds of hand craft, an exhibit has been provided which includes over 200 specimens of arts and craft work. Among these are pieces of wood-carving, basketry, metal work, hand-made jewelry and textile weaving. This exhibition also includes designs for articles of various kinds made by students in Pratt institute, New York; the Philadelphia School of Industrial Art, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the Rhode Island School of Design, and several other well known art schools.

These exhibitions have circulated among nearly fifty towns, including New Orleans, Savannah, Atlanta, Memphis, Nashville, Austin, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio upon the southern route; Denver, Colorado Springs, Omaha, Kansas City, Lincoln, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Dayton, Ann Arbor, Saginaw, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Lawrence among the western towns; and Rochester, Syracuse, Waterbury, New Bedford, Wilkes-Barre and Pittsburg among the towns of the eastern circuit. Some of these towns had only one of the exhibitions during the season and others had several. It is expected that the circuits will include many new towns this year as the knowledge be*comes circulated that the exhibitions are provided by* the American Federation of Art, and may be enjoyed by the people of any town without cost, other than providing a hall or room for exhibiting them.

* * *

The long talked of Federal Art commissioner was authorized by congress chiefly through the influence of the Federation of Art, so that now, for the first time in its history, the nation is giving recognition to the importance of developing a true artistic sense as a characteristic of its people. This commission consists of seven members, including architects, painters and sculptors who are appointed by the president of the United States. They serve for a term of four years without pay. The advice of this commission is called for regarding the purchase of art objects and the erection of buildings and memorials by the United States government. The membership now includes Daniel Chester French, chairman; F. L. Olmsted, Thomas Hastings, Edwin H. Blashfield, Cass Gilbert, Charles Moore and B. S. Anderson. There have been two deaths since the commission was appointed by President Taft, that of Francis D. Millet, who was lost in the Titanic disaster, and that of Daniel H. Burnham.

If He Is in Earnest

(Baltimore Sun.)

Tammany was in the saddle in the New York legislature until its adjournment Saturday night, and its representatives snapped their fingers in the governor's face, not merely with regard to certain leading appointments, but on his direct statewide primary bill which they threw down hard and gleefully. It was a fine, suggestive exhibition of oldfashioned autocratic machine power and insolent defiance of the popular will. There is scarcely any other state in the country in which such an exhibition could be given nowadays. Most of the bosses have become too discreet, if not too virtuous, to flout public sentiment with such open contempt.

This is Murphy's challenge to the people of New York. If Governor Sulzer is in earnest in his announced intention to call an extra *session of the legis*lature for the passage of an honest direct primary bill and to stump the state on that issue, he can make himself a leader such as the New York Democracy has not had for years, and can put Murphy down and out. But if he doesn't do it, somebody else will. The direct primary is an issue which nobody can kick around, as Murphy has done, without heaping up wrath to come. The only question is, who will give the people of New York this right? If Sulzer falters, a dozen others will rush to the front to carry the flag.

Captain Barnacle's Travelogues

BY JOHN H. WISHAR

"Only once have I ever commanded a land ship," remarked Captain Barnacle, "and that was enough, for we were wrecked far from salt water, and had to hike about a thousand miles before we struck the sea coast. This adventure befell me in South America, to the southward of the Amazon river. I had been in command of the brig Cromwell, which had carried an old German professor from Liverpool to New York. On the way over he told me about an ancient city in the heart of South America which was full of gold and silver and possibly jewels, and which had never been visited by white men save once, and this man had later died, but had first left a chart of the country and town. The professor wanted me to command an expedition to find this old city and get all the valuables.

"The first thing I decided on was a land ship. This was a regular ship, but placed on wheels. You know those vast plains in South America extend for hundreds of miles without even a mole hill to interfere. Well, at Montevidio we set up the land ship and started out. I had a crew of four men to work the vessel, and we made splendid time. The vessel shot over the vast wastes like lightning. It was easy navigating, and at the end of three weeks' sailing we came in sight of the old town, which was built on the side of a mountain. I sailed right up to the outer walls, and then we disembarked.

"Well, sir, there was gold and jewels a-plenty. We hopped about like mad. All of us were to be millionaires. We started loading the vessel at once, and soon had the ship full of gold with several chests of jewels. We cleaned up the place and we figured that we must have something like thirty or forty million dollars worth of stuff, and it was all ours. But about this time we spotted a band of Indians coming. We saw at once that they were hostile and prepared to leave at once. Sure enough, as soon as they saw us they came after us on the dead run. But I don't care much, for there was a good breeze and I knew we could soon sail away from them.

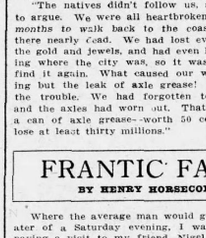
"When the savages—and they were all enormous big men—got within about half a mile I gave the word to up anchor and get unday way. But here is the tragic part: We had no sooner started than the forward axle broke and the ship's bow plunged into the side of the hill. Then the after axle broke also and the stern went down with a crash. There was a stiff breeze blowing and the masts went over the side. The savages were coming fast and the only thing to do was to cut and run for it. We grabbed some food and a few canteens of water, and away we went, leaving the ship and her precious cargo.

"The natives didn't follow us, and we didn't stop to argue. We were all heartbroken. It took us three months to walk back to the coast, and we arrived there nearly dead. We had lost everything, including the gold and jewels, and had even lost the map showing where the city was, so it was useless to try to find it again. What caused our wreck? Why, nothing but the leak of axle grease! Yes, sir, that was the trouble. We had forgotten to take any along, and the axles had worn out. That's how the lack of a can of axle grease—worth 50 cents—caused us to lose at least thirty millions."

FRANTIC FABLES

BY HENRY HORSECOLLAR.

Where the average man would go forth to the theater of a Saturday evening, I was in the habit of paying a visit to my friend, Nigel Pigeonhead.



Nigel was a faddist and his fads were far more interesting than a comic opera, because they were somewhat original — and no music went with them.

On one occasion he told me that he proposed to buy a barrel of apples and eat the skins. He said he'd discovered that the skins contained a lot of anhydrates and phosphorescence and all that sort of thing. On another occasion he explained a new theory he had devised for storing up energy in his system. He intended, he said, to put glass casters on his bed and to place the bed in a direct line with the magnetic currents of the earth. He told me that this would make sort of a Leyden jar out of his body. At another time he told me how he had just bought a silk hat and had punched it full of holes in order to ventilate his head.

But somehow or other, it always seemed to me that Nigel rather enjoyed telling about his schemes more than he enjoyed executing them.

One Saturday evening I replenished my cigarette case and set out for Pigeonhead's apartment. I arrived at 8:45 and found him wrapped up as usual in a brand new theory.

"Instead of taking breakfast any more," said Nigel, after we had lighted our cigarettes, "I take an ice bath. It's great. You get in the cold water and rub a piece of ice all over yourself until your skin looks the color of a wild rose." And he took me in the bathroom to explain more thoroughly. "You get out," he went on, "feeling fit as blazes; why don't you try it?"

I replied that I didn't have to rub ice on myself—that my landlady kept my room at a temperature that made it unnecessary.

It was from that date that Nigel began to lose interest for me. He kept harping on that ice bath idea until I got tired listening to him, and I didn't go near him for weeks.

When I judged that the fad had worn off I ventured in to have an evening's chat with him. But we had no sooner settled ourselves when my heart sank.

"Say, Henry," he blurted, "I've got an addition to that ice bath"—and he dragged me in to see it.

When we returned to the library he noted a thoughtful expression on my face.

"I see," he cried enthusiastically, "I've got you interested at last! Isn't it so?"

"I admit that you have, Nigel," I said. "Im going to have another look at that tub if you don't mind."

"Sure thing; go right ahead," he said.

When I returned he could hardly contain himself.

"I knew," he said, "that you'd come around in time! What do you think of it now?"

I settled myself in an easy chair and puffed my cigarette for some moments.

"Why, It's this, Nigel," I said slowly. "The first time you showed me that tub, several weeks ago, I accidentally dropped some cigarette ashes in it, and I have just observed that they are there yet."

JUST SMILES

"I'm very sorry, Mr. Dixon," said the girl to the young man who had asked if he might take her in to supper at the dance, "but I've promised to go in to supper with some one else; but I'll introduce you to a very handsome and clever girl."

"No," replied the disappointed young man, disconsolately, "I don't want a handsome and clever girl; I want you."—Ladies' Home Journal.

An individual of considerable importance, by name of Tootle, once attended a reception, accompanied by his wife. The announcement was made: "Mr. Tootle!" "And Mrs. Tootle," was suggested, sotto voce, in corrective tones.

"And Mrs. Toodle, too!" resounded like the blast of a horn through the room, to the evident amusement of the large assembly.

The Conductor Knows Toadstools From Mushrooms

"You can tell a mushroom when you see it. If it don't kill you, it ain't a toadstool. It's that way with some people. They make a noise like a mushroom. You wonder how you ever lived so long without 'em. That ain't th' puzzle. It's how them people ever live so long without you. They're gonna sting you, an' you don't know it. Just like a bee stingin' you, they got to light first. Bees can't sting when he's flyin'. So you let 'em settle on you. Best friends you ever had. Nothin' you do is wrong with them. They hain't had time to get their stinger out yet. You get tickled to death with 'em. Nothin' 's too good for 'em. You commence wonderin' why all th' rest o' th' world is livin' at all.

"All a sudden th' balloon goes up. Somethin' happens to you, an' you grab for your real friends. Do you get Mr. Mushroom? Not if he saw you first. That ain't his real name nohow. He's Mr. Toadstool, an' you get stung. Serves you right for goin' on looks. That's no good sign for a man. Them people so keen about who they speak to, an' how they walk, an' what sort o' clothes they wear on th' street, an' what kind o' places you see 'em in, they ain't real folks you'd can bet your last dollar on. Them kind is toadstools.

"No fellow that is somebody keeps lookin' out for looks. Real people that you can take your hat off to don't mind sayin' 'howdy' to a tomcat. Nothin' they do can hurt 'em. But th' other kind—them toadstool kind—is so scared of their place, they know they're gonna get it handed to 'em good an' proper, they got to have rules to keep 'em on th' track. I can always tell a big man, even if he hain't four feet tall, 'cause he's natural as old bread. He knows he's got somethin' nobody can take away from him. It ain't so with toadstools. They got to be careful or you'll spot 'em.

"You must get out o' th' door, mister!

"That don't make no difference who you are; them's th' rules!

At Last the Old Astor Goes

(New York World.)

April 18, 1906, a few days more than seven years ago, New York society put on the gowns of its grandmothers and the brass-buttoned swallow-tails of its grandfathers and went to dance in the old Astor House. It was a famous time for memories, and a great night for the ghosts in Barclay street and in St. Paul's churchyard. But in yesterday's news we read that the fine old hostelry is in the last month of its existence. It yields after a long and by no means cheerless struggle to the progress, which brings a new subway perilously under one of its ancient corners.

For sentimental reasons the passing of the Astor House is to be regretted. In its seventy-seven years of active life it has been a wonderful and wonderfully changing center of affairs. Its old register bore the names of half a dozen presidents of the United States, besides those of Webster, Calhoun, Seward, Clay, Douglas, Sewmour and other statesmen, and Hawwthorne, Dickens and Irving among authors. When the hotel was opened the districts now forming Greater New York had a total population of less than 400,000. In Manhattan the Astor was declared by its critics to be "too far uptown." As it passes away, the nearest of the modern great hotels is at least three miles further north.

The Astor House took three years in building and cost $350,000. The hotel Astor, in Long Acre square, is a $7,000,000 structure, and the new Plaza, at Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, cost $12,000,000. Gone with the old memories are what seem to the eyes of twentieth century extravagance the old modesties of New York hotel keeping. But in 1836, beyond a doubt, a $350,000 hostelry on Broadway plumed itself quite as proudly as if it had known the glitter of a full-fledged Peacock alley.

Lyrics of Spring

II.

Oh, well the world is dreaming
Under the April moon,
Her soul in love with beauty,
Her senses all a-swoon.

Pure hangs the silver crescent
Above the twilight wood,
And pure the silver music
Wakes from the marshy flood.

O earth, with all thy transport
How comes it life should seem
A shadow in the moonlight
A murmur in a dream?

III.

Over the wintry threshold
Who comes with joy today,
So frail, yet so enduring,
To triumph o'er dismay?

Ah, quick her tears are springing,
And quickly they are dried,
For sorrow walks before her,
But gladness walks beside.

She comes with guests of laughter,—
The music as of rills;
With tenderness and sweetness,
The wisdom of the hills.

Her hands are strong to comfort,
Her heart is quick to heed;
She knows the signs of sadness,
She knows the voice of need;

There is no living creature
However poor or small,
But she will know its trouble,
And harken to its call.

Oh, well they fare forever,
By mighty dreams possest,
Whose hearts have lain a moment
On that eternal breast.

—BLISS CARMEN, in the Smart Set.

HOO'S HOO

BY JOHN W. CAREY.

Who ought have been a failure as a son of wealth and fame and yet is adding lustre to a well illumined name? Who runs a string of packing plants where cattle, sheep, and hogs are dressed for for boards that gird the globe—in fanciest of togs? Who turns your Mr. Parker by a course of lively stunts to dollars — every scrap of him (old stuff) except his grunts? Who says tut tut to rumors of a trust in pork and beef that brings to pass H. C. of L. and other forms of grief? Who's known in Chi and elsewhere as the Money making Wiz—with grain to burn and banks galore? J. Ogden Armour is.

RAILWAY MAIL ASSN. HOLDS ANNUAL SESSION

C. E. Knight, of Macon, Elected President, and Next Session Will Be in 1915

The second annual convention of the Railway Mail association of the Fourth division was held in Atlanta Tuesday in the Railroad Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

The Fourth division comprises the states of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina. About thirty delegates were in attendance, representing all these states.

The constitution was amended by making the conventions biennial instead of annual, and the next conventio will be held in 1915 at a place to be selected by the executive committee.

The following officers were elected for a term of two years:

President—C. E. Knight, Macon.

Vice President—E. D. Carswell, Waycross.

Secretary-Treasurer—F. W. Rooney, Atlanta.

An executive committee was created, consisting of one member from each state, and the following were elected to the committee:

W. M. Selcer, Atlanta; R. J. Shackleford, Nashville; R. J. Harden, Montgomery; R. A. Cart, Charleston; J. M. Ripley, Jacksonville.

Delegates to the national convention in Cincinnati next month were elected as follows:

J. H. Kuhne, Charleston; T. J. Luckie, Birmingham; W. M. Selcer, Atlanta.

A resolution was adopted indorsing John Hogan, of Atlanta, as auditor of the Fourth division, and the delegates to the national convention were directed to urge his re-election.

The convention was in session from 9 o'clock in the morning until a late hour Tuesday night, with a thirty-minute recess for lunch, and was executive throughout.

The address of W. M. Selcer, of Atlanta, retiring president, was the first thing on the program. He said the association showed rapid and satisfactory growth in the past year and that closer relations between the men in the railway mail service have elevated the standard of efficiency.

The report of F. W. Rooney, secretary-treasurer, showed that the Fourth division has a substantial bank balance and that its other business affairs are flourishing.

The first lecture will be delivered Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the German Lutheran church by Dr. M. C. Pruitt, who will also deliver a second lecture on "Tuberculosis and Its Prevention." Niles will speak to the Girls' Night School at the Emergy-Stone building on "General Hygiene and Tuberculosis."

AIDS WIFE'S SEARCH FOR MISSING CHILDREN

Ted A. Mooring, of Macon, Ga., has come to Atlanta to aid his wife in the search for her two daughters, Fay, five, and Margaret, aged eight and ten years, who are supposed to have been kidnaped by Mrs. Mooring's former husband, J. Tom Long, while Mr. and Mrs. Mooring were on their honeymoon.

Mrs. Mooring has received a letter signed by Long, informing her that he will return the children provided she will make certain concessions. He gave his address as "general delivery," Atlanta, and the police are keeping an eye on the postoffice.

MARIETTA STREET CITIZEN COMPLAINS OF SPEEDING

Complying with a request of H. B. Davis, grocer, of 782 Marietta street, Chief of Police Beavers has instructed patrolmen on duty along this thoroughfare to exercise especial vigilance in arresting automobile speeders. Mr. Davis, in a communication to the police head, declares that it is not uncommon for autos to speed past his place of business at anywhere from thirty to fifty miles an hour and imperil pedestrians.

POLICE ASSOCIATION TO INCREASE DUES

Members of the Police Benevolent association will vote on the question of increasing the monthly dues and death benefits at a meeting of the organization Thursday. It is proposed to make the dues $1.50 a month instead of $1, as now, and to pay beneficiaries $1,500, instead of $1,000, upon the death of a member.

AD-MEN CELEBRATE IN "GIGANTIC JAG OF JOY"

THEATERS

ATLANTA—The Girl from Out Yonder.

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.

BIJOU—Vaudeville and Pictures.

The Forsyth attendance keeps up to the remarkable record that has been established since the theater returned to its policy of presenting high class Keith vaudeville. There is a constant demand for reservations for all performances, and the cozy and busy theater has been filled at every performance since its reopening. The daily bargain matinees, 25 cents for the best seats—have covered last season's records completely, and even the top gallery is now crowded with delighted and well behaved people.

Gus Edwards, Kid Kabaret, one of the most important headline features in vaudeville, is scoring a hit that will be one of the record breakers of the season. There are fifteen clever young people in the little company, all of whom have been splendidly trained by the song-writer. Max Hart's Six Steppers dance better than any combination that has been seen on a local stage, and Charlie Riesner and Miss Gores in their comedy idea win laughter and applause at every performance. The artistic hit of the show belongs to Belle Story, one of the cleverest singers yet to appear here.

Next week's headliner will be Paul Dickey, the famous football star of Michigan, who with his own company, will present "The Come Back," a playlet of interest.

This afternoon a matinee performance of "The Girl From Out Yonder" will be given at the Atlanta by Miss Billy Long and members of her stock company. Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison, the Atlanta society beauty, will be greeted by many of her school girl friends and associates. The play has made the biggest hit of anything produced by the company to date, and is certain of winning tremendous applause at every performance of the week. Tonight the company will not play, because of a college commencement, but they will be seen Thursday and the remaining days of the week, with a matinee at 25 cents Saturday.

Next week the company will be seen in a roaring farce comedy, "Are You a Mason?" The play was read yesterday afternoon and characters cast. Miss Harrison was given a prominent role, her work this week encouraging the management to arrange for her to continue with the company during the summer. Miss Harrison is not inexperienced and has made a tremendous hit. Next to Miss Long and Mr. Vail she has won more applause than any member of the company this week. This afternoon, following the matinee, seats will be placed on sale for next week's offering.

AD MEN TOOK POSSESSION OF "DENECHAUD" TUESDAY EVENING

Lively Members of Atlanta Club Held High Revel in "Gigantic Jag of Joy" at Their Get-Together Meeting in Cafe Denechaud—"We Leave Here," Began Bert Adams; but the Ad Men Detained Him

After helping themselves to everything edible around the Cafe Denechaud, the Ad Men of Atlanta left there shortly before 10 o'clock Tuesday evening while W. F. ("Bill") Parkhurst stood beside the door and yelled more and more feebly for help. The closing announcement of President E. H. Goodhart that the diners could get there any evening for 50 cents the same feed for which they had just paid six bits, was more than Mr. Parkhurst could stand. Some of his silver had been taken a few moments previously from the pockets of F. J. Merriam, editor of an agricultural journal, by T. H. Brannen, former president of the club, at the direction of President Goodhart—to the vast surprise of Mr. Merriam, of course, who blushed profusely while his fellow members ragged him.

The Ad Men's "gigantic jag of joy," announced as a get-together meeting, was just such a free-for-all as the Ad Men enjoy most hugely whenever they can get together. Any one who brought his table manners with him was requested to check them at the door. Sugar lumps and chunks of bread were projected casually to attract attention to greetings or remarks.

Then, too, there was the cabaret, with Miss Bess Jordan and Miss Beulah Dawson vying with each other for the favor of the highly appreciative diners, each winning the Ad Men's song of praise—"She's got style all the while, all the while." Miss Lillian Lochridge, at the piano, drew that song, too, and Louis Kilpatrick, third of the singers, won applause.

Julian Boehn, one of the guests of the evening, showed some really excellent slight-of-hand work and some marvelous card tricks, and would have done a disappearing stunt with coins had any of the Ad Men come across with the coins. W. MacJones, Atlanta representative of Barron Collier, Inc., proved to be an artist of considerable ability, drawing comics alternately with caricatures of leaders in the ad club.

J. S. Jetton, until recently a Memphis man, who has been elected president of the ad club there when he moved to Atlanta on the day following his election, addressed the members briefly.

Bert Adams, former president, some time earlier in the evening had attempted to make a speech. He was introduced by President Goodhart. "This is serious." Mr. Goodhart shouted, over the comments with which both were being received. Whereupon the Ad Men took it otherwise. They were impressed not even slightly. "We leave here," began Mr. Adams, in an effort to detail the "on to Baltimore" trip of the Atlanta club. His voice was lost in the hubbub. "We leave here," he began again. And that was as far as he got. Numerous helpful spirits endeavored to boost him over the starting line with stentorian announcements of "We leave here." But Mr. Adams did not leave. He quit trying to do. "You know, that's the best speech I ever heard Bert make," said one member to a group of others, immediately afterward.

Every diner was tagged with a great big label that was tied to his coat lapel when he entered and paid his six bits for the feast. Secretary Howard Geldert presided over that function. The tag announced "I am so-and-so. Who are you?" The menu was an artful arrangement of Billy Parkhurst grape fruit, Tom Brannen queen olives, Harry Goodhart pickles, Paul Reese chicken patties, W. S. Lounsbury string beans, Bert Adams spaghetti, Howard Geldert sirloin of beef ,Louis Hicks salad, Good Drug Store ice cream and Jack Lewis demi tasse, all with Fred Houser cabaret. Suds, cigars, and corncob pipes with sack tobacco were passed around, and Bert Adams finally got away to Baltimore just before the diners disappeared. The Ad Men's national convention in Baltimore in June will be attended by a numerous delegation from the Atlanta club.

One announcement to which the Tuesday evening gathering listened with both ears open and in a perfectly respectful silence was that which told them they are to be the guests of Jacobs' pharmacy on Saturday, at a barbecue in the Burns club. The barbecue will be prepared there by the chef of the club. The announcement came through Charles A. Smith, one of the Ad Men, manager of the main Jacobs' store.

EIGHTH GRADE PUPILS TO UNITE IN BIG CHORUS

The eighth grade pupils in each of the Atlanta public schools will be united Friday night in a big chorus that will sing at the auditorium under the direction of Miss Kate Harralson, director of music in the public schools.

The seventh grade pupils from eight schools—Crew, Edgewood, Calhoun, Williams, Lee, Formwalt, Grant and Fryor—will form a smaller chorus.

The program will be made up of folk songs of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and America. Dr. Percy J. Starnes will play accompaniments on the auditorium organ.

SHRINERS WILL INITIATE 35 INTO YAARAB TEMPLE

A regular ceremonial will be held by Yaarab temple, Mystic Shrine, in Taft hall at the auditorium Thursday evening, to initiate some thirty-five or forty candidates into the Shrine. After the ceremonial, zem-zem and light refreshments will be served.

A business meeting of Yaarab temple at 4 o'clock in the afternoon will be held in the Masonic temple.

MI-O-NA A SPECIFIC FOR STOMACH ILLS

Many people treat their house, dogs and other things in which they are interested with more thoughtfulness than their stomachs.

We take precautions against fire and other damage to property, but what care or thought do we give our bodies? Almost none! Somehow we have an idea that our mortal frame will stand any abuse heaped upon it, so we go on tormenting it until it becomes defiant and rebels.

A little fire bell in the system always rings to sound the warning. We have an ache, Pain, a bad taste in the mouth, or something out of the ordinary. What is the cause? Just this—been eating too much, too fast, or something that the overloaded and tired digestive organs refuse to handle in the natural way.

Be prepared for these warnings. Mi-o-na Tablets are a specific for stomach ills. Get a box today—always keep them in the house—carry them when traveling —take them at the first warning of stomach distress.

If you have that uncomfortable feeling of fullness, if your stomach is upset, tongue coated, head aches, you feel dizzy at times, and are irritable and depressed, beware—you are warned that the stomach and digestive organs are in rebellion. Do not delay. Take Mi-o-na—at once—immediate relief is certain.

Remember—if not benefited Mi-o-na costs nothing—always sold on money back plan at druggists everywhere. 50c a large box.—(Advt.)

Tag Day Next Monday: Pretty Girls Will Be Sole Official Venders

Atlanta's spring calendar has "Tag Day" written in red letters above the date Monday, May 12.

As everybody knows that means Atlanta is going to turn the small change of a day over to the Sheltering Arms. Pretty girls will be venders of tags that can be had for only 10 cents each, but some of which will bring $10.

Everybody must be in a happy mood for such is the spirit of the day. The young ladies plan to make a canvass of all the office buildings, hotels and stores in Atlanta and they will, of course, be on all the principal street corners. Everybody will be given a chance, so be sure to have some change ready.

Of course, when a man is "tagged" it relieves him of further responsibility in the game. But because a man is "tagged," it doesn't put him out of the game at all. He is at perfect liberty to keep on playing until sunset if he wants to. "The more the merrier" is the motto of the game.

The various "Tag Day" committees will be announced in a few days.

Market in New York Closed 3 to 11 Points Higher Than Previous Close

NEW YORK, May 7.—Cotton opened firm at an advance of five to nine points on covering by some of yesterday's late sellers, and a renewed demand from recentlouts who seemed to be encouraged by the absence of rain and the failure of yesterday's predicted rains to materialize in the south. The first active bulk forecast for continued clear and cooler weather contributed to the advance which carried the active months about eight to nine points net higher but at this level there was considerable realizing and the market closed off a point or two.

Reports of showers in northwest Alabama probably influenced selling soon after the opening, but later reports indicated the rainfall was insufficient and the market picked up again before noon with prices selling soon 10 to 12 points above yesterday's closing. Private reports indicating that cotton showed poor stands and of the necessity of some of the Mississippi and detailed weather reports showing no precipitation of consequence afford the market's nervousness. Prices fully held the advance at noon.

After showing a net gain of about 14 to 17 points the market turned a shade easier in the early afternoon influenced by reports of advertising showers in Alabama and realizing by early buyers. Prices eased off five to six points from the best and the tone seemed to somewhat unsettle around 2 o'clock.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of two to six points on much better cables than due and on the absence of needed rains in the eastern section of the cotton region. Temperatures over the belt were also lower, according to reports received by bullish traders. Selling in the early trading was moderate and the demand served to hold prices up. At the end of the first half hour of business the market stood eight to nine points above yesterday's close.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Norman Mayer & Co.: Sales on every bulge are profitable.

Miller & Co.: As long as conditions continue so far they look for higher prices.

Atwood, Violett & Co.: We would sell on good rallies.

Logan & Bryan: It looks as if sales can be made at all times around present prices up 100 points.

Neelon & Co.: We think weak spots should be taken advantage of for conservative buying of the fall positions.

NEW YORK STOCK LETTER

NEW YORK, May 7.—The advances by the sheets were largely responsible for the recovery this morning, contributing largely also outcome of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific conferences in Chicago and Washington. Other factors that are making investors more confident are a syndicate is formed to handle the Southern Pacific stock and a general improvement in the market with a declining tendency.—Potter.

HAYWARD & LETCHER'S MARKET LETTER

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—Weather conditions are slow at present and barometric conditions have barely changed in the past 24 hours. While it is cloudy over the eastern half of the belt it is a well-defined rain area covering, we have not yet been a general precipitation there has been no rain in many localities. Indications are for unsettled and showery weather in the eastern half, partly cloudy to fair in the western half. Further showers are due over the central states overnight. By 10 a. m. today several points in Alabama had reported rain.

Liverpool came in very good today with futures about 3 points better than due, spots unchanged; sales larger, total of 10,000. The continued was reported as having been good, which is either due to unfavorable crop reports from this die or growing confidence in the political outlook and expected trade improvement this fall.

The absence of all reports from the eastern states is that the soil is in fine condition; start good, and all that is needed now is rain.

Feeling in favor of a reaction predominates in our market at present and we would not be surprised even of short interest, bullish intentions by a financially strong element in New York led by Mr. Rockefeller. Of general rains in the east, and most of all by the widespread idea that these big crops cannot be made in succession. It is important to point out in this respect that the increase in production in late years has been mainly due to better agricultural methods arising from better knowledge, and this factor once established is retained to remain.

The contract market is very steady at present around 11.91 for July and 11.08 for October. Professional support against the short interest is evident.

INTERESTING NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MARKETS

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Dispatch says: Because the trade is *attaching more importance to the necessity for replanting over a large section of the belt and because the government's estimate of crop conditions in many sections the rings were inclined to sell on the bulges today. The latter took their advantage when French rettes were reported down and declined points and when private telegrams reported rain falling in Alabama. The truth of the matter is, the market is in the dark because of the knowledge. That far the talent has had great argument about it, but nobody has learned anything of a very definite nature. Now, however, the crop reports are looking through the doorway. In a little while the dimensions of the crop will be had with the coming of light they will all know whether the season is to be early and normal or a late start. They will also know whether the rains have been too important or not, and whether the replanting made necessary by the floods is to be the unchological moment and continued cold nights will not have done such a lasting impression on the yield. In the interim, each day's weather map and the shade of some one adverse influence crosses the tape. Meanwhile the bears are the enemy shoot fight.

Who shows fair weather in the western half of the belt; cloudy in the eastern half; some nice rains in central states, but none shown by map in southern states; temperatures clear, hardly any change in barometric condition. Indications are for unsettled and showery weather in the eastern states and becoming unsettled over the northwestern quarter.

Memphis to Tupelo, Miss., generally excellent condition; planting about completed. Tupelo, Columbus, Meridian, Miss., Montgomery to Florence conditions irregular; germination slow. Some cotton up to a stand; others coming on. Some chopped out between here and Montgomery. Rain needed in many parts of this section. Unless we get it soon, much replanting will be necessary. Weather partly cloudy and warmer.

Louisiana: Tonight and Thursday, generally fair; little variation in temperature; light frost in north.

Arkansas: Tonight fair; warmer in western portion. Thursday fair; warmer.

Oklahoma: Tonight and Thursday fair and warmer.

East Texas: Tonight fair; warmer in western portion. Thursday fair; warmer in eastern, northerly to easterly winds on the coast.

West Texas: Tonight and Thursday, except in southwest portion, fair; warmer.

Georgia, North and South Carolina: Fair tonight and Thursday; slight change in temperature.

Alabama: Fair tonight and Thursday; slightly cooler in the southeast portion tonight and Thursday.

Kentucky: Fair tonight and Thursday.

Tennessee: Fair tonight and Thursday; cooler in eastern portion tonight.

Mississippi: Fair tonight and Thursday.

At 8 a. m. this morning conditions were as follows: January, 10.95; May, 11.39; July, 11.46; August, 11.25; October, 10.99.

10 a. m. bids in New Orleans were: January, 11.09; May, 12.07; July, 11.92; August, 11.52; October 11.06.

After the call Winn, Hentz, Wilson and Heinsman were among the buyers. McFadden, Mohr, Shearson, Hartnorn, Guild, Johnson and Dupignac were the sellers. There were heavy rains in the eastern belt and a general bullish sentiment was in evidence. Trade buying was stimed as bullish. Sentiment is more bullish. Liverpool cables continental buying on good trade demand.

Waters bought 2,500 October from Mitchell and bid for 2,500 more.

The weather man contradicts the official forecast of fair weather and gives rains as the main indications for unsettled, showery weather in eastern half of belt.—Hubbard.

Mitchell sold 10,000 October in al lat 95 for Baruch Brothers. Neill's report bullish on visible supply statistics.—Hubbard.

Columbus, Ga.—Conditions in this section, covering fare of the cotton belt in Alabama and Georgia and all north Alabama and Florida in bad shape for cotton. Rain is needed to start it all and conditions now below normal and steadily falling behind on account of drouth. Early planted cotton made impossible to prepare the low lands properly. Plowed too early and now too wet to work. Stand is in such shape as sun is baking land. I heard conditions all the way down and saw some good cotton in Atlanta and talked with a number of people across the country, and the story was the same, one long distance everywhere. No rain now, story comes from everywhere. No rain now for six weeks and forecast for clear and cooler. Comparative figures only and conditions under where complain of very bad, defective or inferior stand. Crop is now in the hands of the warm weather in January is said to have caused heating and consequent short half. Reseeding and replanting almost half the total stocks of cotton for planting. The outlook here is discouraging and a large crop is considered impossible at this time.—Hubbard.

Waco wires: Just returned from country tip. Crop not doing well at all. Many complaints of replanting with daily temperatures below 55. Progress of plant greatly retarded. Large planters declare not one crop, while doing May last year planters in Texas sold fall delivery freely. No sales have been made to date, nor any intention of doing so by anybody.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow, Jones' summary: House may adopt income tax today. Secretary of commerce says decision to investigate reduction of wages for all industries. Burlington's April earnings estimated to have increased about 10 per cent. United States Rubber earned 7.46 per cent on common stock for the year ended March 31, 1913. Twelve industrials declined .74; twenty native rails declined .72.

The Union Pacific and Southern Pacific dispute problem is doing much to unsettle sentiment. Also the question of action on dividend of Boston and Main until June, the prospects of a reduction of New Haven dividend the 13th are factors that are making capital timid. Until we have more light on these matters we how we can have any sustained advance while these disturbing factors are unsettled.—Hubbard.

Norfolk and Western earnings for March show net increase of $1,044,000; for nine months, net increase of $1,632,000.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Chicago Inter Ocean says: Wheat traders saw nothing last night on which to base purchases for a substantial upward movement, and nothing to warrant any further decline today, there should be a reaction on general principles, but there was no one to start it. Even those who have been friendly to the market said that the country was getting too much wheat, combined with prospects of a larger movement from Argentina, and that there was no warrant for a good advance at present. Oats specialists were moderately bullish, but undecided about following the short side too closely.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co., say: Wheat—Sentiment is still pronouncedly bearish and we cannot but feel that the decline is being overdone.

Corn—New buying is rather limited but the country is offering good sized parcels for sale freely.

Oats—Values have been affected, chiefly by other grains; there being little or no selling pressure on the market except by shorts.

Thomas-Parker-Wood say: On the bear buyers on declines, the selling coming chiefly in the way of scattered profit-taking.

Kansas City says: Allen Logan figures show Kansas has 13,100,000 wheat back in all positions against about four million last year.

Rumor still around buying July wheat. There was general commission house selling at opening. Logan buying July corn. Commission houses were also buyers of September and July corn at 55c.

Private crop forecast—Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin: Generally fair, warmer, Missouri, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Dakotas and South Dakota and Nebraska: Showers tonight and Thursday.

Cash houses fair buyers of July corn.

Kling report on Ohio makes Ohio crop May first, wheat condition 93; April 93, last May 84, July 43. Oats average compared with last year 81 per cent; rye, 93; barley, 92.

COTTON LETTER

NEW YORK, May 7.—Failure of map to show rains on which the local crowd sold the market yesterday reports from crop experts stating that unless good rains came replanting would be on the increase and figures pointed to Neill that there would not be enough spinnable cotton to go around, and that unless the new crop yielded 15,000,000 bales would go much higher, all contributed to a higher market today. Wall street, however, and uptown interests continued to sell, refusing to believe that anything serious was the matter with prospects. On the other hand the bulls were in possession of wires from sections of Georgia and Alabama that rain was badly needed. Spot interests appear to be the best buyers, and it is possible that prices may work higher unless conditions in the Atlantic states are improved by general showers.—Anderson.

COTTON LETTER

NEW YORK, May 7.—Failure of map to show rains on which the local crowd sold the market yesterday reports from crop experts stating that unless good rains came replanting would be on the increase and figures pointed to Neill that there would not be enough spinnable cotton to go around, and that unless the new crop yielded 15,000,000 bales would go much higher, all contributed to a higher market today. Wall street, however, and uptown interests continued to sell, refusing to believe that anything serious was the matter with prospects. On the other hand the bulls were in possession of wires from sections of Georgia and Alabama that rain was badly needed. Spot interests appear to be the best buyers, and it is possible that prices may work higher unless conditions in the Atlantic states are improved by general showers.—Anderson.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET STRONG IN LATE TRADING

Buying Orders for Round Amounts Made Appearance and Shorts Beat Retreat

NEW YORK, May 7.—Mixed changes at the opening today gave the stock market an irregular appearance. The tendency among the leaders was downward, with especial heaviness in stocks which have been conspicuously weak recently. Southern Pacific broke over a point to 95¾, a new low figure. Union Pacific fell under yesterday's low price and New Haven and Independent-Metropolitan transferred ground a point.

Rapidity of decline in Harriman stocks brought immediate short-cover and the list rebounded swiftly. Southern Pacific rallied 1¼ and Union Pacific 1¾ from the lowest, both stocks selling above yesterday's closing. Reading sold a point beyond yesterday's final price and recoveries elsewhere reached a half point or more.

Development of weakness in new quarters, mingling with renewed pressure against Union Pacific, brought the session's second break. The decline in the general list was trivial, New York Central alone showing a new low record, 100. Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania and American Smelting followed some ground and woolen preferred broke 2¼.

Bear operators met with stubborn opposition, after they had forced down prices in the early trading. Weakness of the Harriman properties failed to depress the market, but when their continued decline threatened to impair the position of the general market, effective support was given. While prices rose generally somewhat after, there was little appearance of vitality.

Gossip regarding the Harriman dissolution suits failed to have much unconfirmed influence. Reports of the appointment of a new syndicate to take over Southern Pacific's holding of Southern Pacific.

Stocks steady.

Stocks that progressed in the morning were the Harriman properties, Reading and investment shares and receded to yesterday's close.

Buying orders for round amounts of stock made their appearance in the late dealings and the short interest beat a precipitate retreat, forcing standard stocks 1 to 1¾ points above yesterday's closing. Washington reports that satisfactory progress had been made in the Harriman dissolution proceedings stimulated the demand for the Harriman list. Some recovery was shown in shares which had been conspicuously depressed in the early selling movement.

Closed strong.

AMERICAN FASHIONS

By Lillian Young.

For the warm weather street frock there is nothing more satisfactory and serviceable than voile, and probably no material that is being more used for the purpose. It comes in splendid conservative colorings, well adapted to the street, and can be made up into the smartest and trimmest designs imaginable. Another important point in its favor is its draping possibilities, for it possesses just the required "body" to work with. Batine is an excellent material to combine with voile for trimming. A jaunty dress recently seen was made of chocolate brown voile on rather tailored lines, and aside from a small tucker of white batiste had no other trimming but turned back cuffs and collar, and buttons of ratine of the same shade.

The dress sketched for today, of gentian blue voile, has good lines and some graceful drapery. The surplice blouse has long sleeves set into dropped shoulders and the front opening is filled in with a small guimpe of white net, finished at the neck with a shirred heading of itself. There is a tiny vest of blue ratine, trimmed with small crystal buttons, and a turned-down collar of ratine. The girdle tied at one side is of blue taffeta. Black or some contrasting shade, however, would lend a good note of color.

The skirt is in two parts, the skirt proper and the draped on circular part. The skirt proper is evenly gathered all around the waist and cut longer on the right side to allow of the slight pouch below the hip that is caught up by the drapery. The draped on circular piece starts from the left side, covering that hip, but curving down under the other. The lower edge describes a diagonal line across the front from knee to foot and leaves a small triangular opening just over the instep.

Mrs. Dexter's Breakfast In Honor Mrs. Echols

Mrs. Edward Echols, of Virginia, who is visiting Miss Constance Knowles, was the attractive honor guest at the lovely breakfast at which Mrs. George Dexter was hostess this morning.

Mrs. Dexter received her guests wearing a becoming gown of taupe-colored charmeuse combined with Mellrose pink and old blue, the hat completing the toilet having a touch of the same becoming colors.

Mrs. Echols wore a lovely gown of dark blue and purple charmeuse combined with chiffon and worn with a smart black hat. Miss Knowles' gown was black satin and her black hat was trimmed with paradise aigrettes.

Luncheon was served in the green room at the Driving club, the table having a charming decoration in white and red peonies, the gorgeous blooms filling a silver loving cup in the center and glowing in great clusters through the garlands of smilax which showed against the white cloth. Red and white sweets filled silver bonbon dishes and the place cards were dainty little hand-painted figures.

Invited to meet Mrs. Echols were Miss Knowles, Mrs. Clarence Knowles, Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Charles Conklin, Mrs. Roby Robinson, Mrs. John E. Murphy, Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, Mrs. Charles Seiple, Mrs. Edward Inman and Mrs. Henry Miller.

That "Low Cost of Living."

It would be interesting to know how much less it costs one family to live than another of like means and requirements. It is quite certain that all households do not possess equal intelligence and economy in their buying.

A finely organized business house, through its trained purchasing department, knows with exactness where to buy and what to buy and when to buy. THE JOURNAL knows the last word about the vast quantities of paper and ink and everything else it buys. We would close up shop pretty quickly if we bought without exact information to guide us.

THE JOURNAL, through its advertising columns, offers every individual and every family the opportunity to practice the same exactness and efficiency in making their disbursements. JOURNAL advertising is the very pulse of human activity. Study it. Be informed by it. And you will learn the secret of economy and the low cost of living.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

Reddy Fox was happy. There was no doubt about it. He chuckled as he lay taking a sun bath and thinking over his plans. It was those very plans that made him chuckle. And if you could have heard that chuckle you would have known by the very sound of it that it meant something unpleasant for some one else. And so it did. It meant something unpleasant for several if Reddy could carry out his plans.

Some folks are never quite so glad
As when they're making others sad.

Reddy Fox is that kind. The more trouble he can bring to others the happier he seems to be. He was extra happy just now, because he thought he had a chance to bring trouble to several all at the same time, and that was the very ones he wanted to bring trouble to more than to any others of whom he could think. The more he thought over his plans the better they seemed, and the more he chuckled.

You see, it was this way: Reddy Fox had no love for Unc' Billy Possum, because when Unc' Billy first came to the Green Forest to live he had shamed Reddy before all the other little meadow and forest people. And Reddy had no love for Prickly Porky, the Porcupine, because when Prickly Porky first came to the Green Forest he had proven Reddy Fox a boaster and a coward. And Reddy had no love for Jimmy Skunk, because only a little while ago Jimmy had prevented Reddy catching Peter Rabbit. Now here was a chance to get even with all three. To Reddy it seemed almost too good to be true.

Unc' Billy Possum was in trouble already. Reddy had to smile every time he thought of it. He was a prisoner in a box in Farmer Brown's door-yard. He couldn't get away without help. Last night there had been a meeting of all the little meadow and forest people to plan some way of helping Unc' Billy Possum. Reddy had not been invited to that meeting, but he had been there just the same, and so he knew all about the plan to help Unc' Billy get free.

In the darkest part of the next night Prickly Porky was to go up to Farmer Brown's door-yard, and with his great teeth he was to gnaw a hole in the box, so that Unc' Billy could crawl out. Jimmy Skunk was to go along and keep watch, so that if Farmer Brown or Farmer Brown's boy or any one else should appear Prickly Porky would be warned in time to get out of sight.

It was a very nice plan. Everybody said so. Reddy chuckled as he thought of how he would upset it. He would wait until Prickly Porky had made the hole almost big enough to let Unc' Billy Possum out, and then he, Reddy Foxy would waken Farmer Brown's boy and bring him out in a hurry to see what was the matter. How would he do it? Why, easily enough. He would steal into the henhouse and frighten the chickens, so that they would make such a racket that Farmer Brown's boy would come rushing out with his dreadful gun. He would be almost sure to see either Jimmy Skunk or Prickly Porky, and then—well, anyway, they would get a dreadful scare, and Unc' Billy Possum wouldn't get away. It was a splendid plan. And the best of it was, there was no danger in it for himself.

Skirts are narrower about the feet than ever and there is absolutely no fit to the bodice. You can take seams or tucks anywhere, so that your whole general effect will be called by some graceful and by others sloppy, and you will have achieved the acme of style provided you walk with the new bended knee and with the drooping shoulder carriage.

THE EVENING STORY

(Copyright, 1913, By W. Werner)

THE AIR CASTLE

THEY were young, graceful, full of health and vigor and had met by chance and sat down upon a moss covered rock by the roadside. Maud's hands were full of ferns and Joan carried her school books and a lunch box.

"Your second year of teaching," Maud said. "Are you not getting tired of it?"

Joan laughed. "Oh, dear, no. It's work, and I love to work. Besides, I'm earning real money, and we need it at home, you know."

"We need money at home, too," Maud sighed. "We seem to be getting poorer each day. Look at that!" She lifted her arm and showed the point of her elbow peeping through her sleeve. "All my things are in the same way. And there's no money for new."

"Why don't you go to work?" Joan asked. "You can teach as well as I, and I know where there's a school—"

Maud interrupted her. "Joan! Mother wouldn't let me, and I don't want to. I'm a Conway, and I've got to live up to the name."

"You'll be starving up to it first thing you know. Look here, Maud"—Joan leaned forward a little, looking directly into her cousin's eyes—"I thrashed this thing out with myself two years ago. My mother thought as yours does. I like my name, I'm proud of it, but I didn't intend to sit down at home with it and starve. So I went to work. And I shall keep on working until—"

She paused abruptly, a flush rising on her clear, brown skin. Her glance went far beyond the adjacent fields to a hillside where a young man was ploughing with a span of big black horses.

Maud's gaze followed Joan's. She finished the broken sentence. "Until you marry Malcolm Stewart. He's just a common farmer, Joan."

The flush on Joan's cheeks deepened into an angry red. "Grandfather Conway was just a common farmer before he went to congress. It's an honorable occupation—as good as school teaching, at least."

"Don't get huffy," Maud begged. "I like Malcolm, but ought to do better. Mother says a Conway could marry anybody. And she is right."

"Malcolm is the only man this Conway ever had a chance to marry—probably ever will. I love him and he loves me. That's enough. We'll make our way together."

"But what will Aunt Isabel say? If she should change her mind about leaving you money?"

Joan patted the moss impatiently with her brown hand. "Oh, Maud, I'm sick of hearing about Aunt Isabel and her money. I'm not going to spoil what life is mine because of a mere possibility. I shall teach school another year or so and then I shall marry Malcolm. If Aunt Isabel chooses to leave me one of her hundred thousands, well and good, though I don't hanker after so much wealth. If she doesn't I'll still have Malcolm and my life. Don't you see, Maud? Air castles have an unpleasant way of falling. You better take Jack Elliot and leave off thinking about the husband you'll never get. You better take the Bear Spring school next week and leave off dreaming. I'd rather have a warm winter coat than all the prospects in the world."

It was Maud's turn to color. "Jack Elliot!" she tried to say lightly. "Oh, mother would never let me have him. As for teaching—" she shrugged her shoulders. "I must hurry on home now, Joan. So good-by."

"Good-by," Joan returned.

As Maud walked away she mounted the rock and sent a clear, far-reaching call across the valley. As the ploughman heard he stopped his horses and waved his hat to her. She waved her lunch box to him. After this interchange of signals she ran gayly down the road home.

The old Conway house, where Joan and her mother lived, was on a shaded village street. Behind it was a garden, where Joan raised a few vegetables in summer. It was a vast, unlovely old house, now tumbling into ruin. The front door stood wide open, and the afternoon sunlight lighted the threshold.

Joan entered the dining room and laid aside her books and lunch box. Hearing a sound, she lifted her eyes to see her mother at the door. She looked very pale and very much disturbed.

"Joan," she said, in a trembling way, "come here."

On the threshold of the parlor Mrs. Conway paused. "Your Aunt Isabel is here," she whispered.

Joan's lips opened in a gasp. It was years since Miss Isabel had deigned to pay either of her brothers' families the honor of a visit. Joan remembered well the shabby little woman whom she had been taught to call aunt and to look upon as her ultimate benefactress. Her heart beat fast as she followed her mother into the dim old room.

In a corner of the haircloth sofa sat a woman frizzed and befurbelowed in the latest fashion. From her emanated a faint odor of Parisian violet. Her suit was blue, her marabout stole enveloping, her veil thick enough to hide every defect of age.

"How do you do, Joan?" she said, and gave Joan a fightly gloved hand.

"How do you do, dear Aunt Isabel? I'm so glad to see you."

Joan spoke mechanically, so amazed was she by the unexpected change in the little elderly woman.

Miss Isabel sank back on the sofa, lifted her veil and passed her handkerchief over her lips. "I feel loaded with dust inside and out," she commented. "My chauffeur would drive so fast. I wish you could see my new car, but I sent it around to the garage for more gasoline."

Aunt Isabel with a car! She who hitherto could not be persuaded to trust her bones to anything much speedier than an ox cart!

"I should never have got the car in the world had not Mr. Campbell rather insisted upon it," Miss Isabel went on "Mr. Campbell, you remember, is my attorney—has managed my affairs for years. I was influenced by him in this matter, so I got a six-cylinder, with an electric starter. Oh, I know all about cars now."

The awkward silence that followed this last remark was broken by the sound of a siren, and the sweep of wheels before the door. Miss Isabel arose.

"I must go," she said. "I want to look in on Maud and her mother before I go back. You see," she looked down, "I have an announcement to make and I came on purpose to make it in person. My estate requires so much attention, more than I know how to give it, Mr. Campbell has been so kind, so able and I've found life very empty. Every woman should marry I think, even though she has reached middle age. I am going to marry Mr. Campbell. That is what I came to tell you. And I'm sure my choice is wise."

It was Joan who spoke. Her mother could not. "I hope you'll be very happy, Aunt Isabel."

"Well, I think I shall be," replied Miss Isabel, confidently.

Joan accompanied her aunt to the car, saw her tucked in, and waved her a good-by. Then she returned to find her mother on the hair cloth soft, crying into a pillow.

"It smells loathsomely of violets," she wailed. "The old fool! He's twenty years younger than she is and a regular high-flier. He'll spend all her money"—

"What she doesn't will to him," Joan was laughing. "Hush, mother. Don't take on. I always knew something like this would happen, and Aunt Isabel is entitled to her happiness. I don't begrudge her and you mustn't. I never wanted her money. I'm content as I am. I've got a mother and a lover and a school to teach. I'll wager anything you dare that Maud will have the same tomorrow. And they are better than all Aunt Isabel's money," she ended joyously.

A Cottolene Strawberry Short Cake
Pastry made with Cottolene is smoother in texture, finer-grained and better in flavor than if made from butter or lard.
And Cottolene costs no more than lard, and will go one-third farther than either butter or lard.
There is as much difference between Cottolene
and its imitations as between extra good and very poor butter. Be careful, avoid substitutes.
TRY THIS RECIPE:
1 quart flour 1 pint milk 6 tablespoons Cottolene
1 heaping teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
Mix dry ingredients together and sift into chopping bowl. Add Cottolene chilled, chop lightly until well mixed; be careful to keep everything cold. Now add the milk, stirring lightly. Divide dough into 6 parts, rolling each piece the size and shape of a plate. Put 2 cakes into each plate and bake about 15 minutes in quick oven. Place on hot plate, tear cakes apart and spread sweetened mashed strawberries between, and over the cakes. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve at once.

MACON RAISES FUND FOR BARACA CONVENTION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MACON, Ga., May 7.—The local Baraca teams who have been fostering a campaign for the past week to secure a fund to entertain delegates to the national convention here next year, provided Macon is selected as the 1914 convention city, have been successful in their work.

Over a thousand dollars was raised through the "dollar campaign," which will be added to the fund of $1,100 which was raised several months ago.

When the national convention assembles this year in Nashville, Tenn., at least a hundred Baracas from Macon will be present to wage the fight for Macon as the 1914 convention city. With a fund of over $2,000 on hand, the classes here feel confident that the next national session will convene in Macon.

MRS. ELLIS FELL FROM TRAIN, DOCTORS SAY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
CORDELE, Ga., May 7.—That Mrs. W. K. Ellis, who is now confined to the Cordele sanitarium, in a serious condition, jumped from a window of the sleeper of an Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic eastbound train at Ross, near Cordele, early this morning while the train was running at not less than twenty miles an hour is the best conclusion that can be reached by parties investigating the accident or attempted suicide.

There are several mysterious connections with the affair that make it appear probable that she attempted to end her life by jumping from the train. Mrs. Ellis, as she gave her name to physicians attending her, is very reticent, refusing to divulge the place of her residence and some details in connection with the accident or attemtped suicide. She is about thirty-five years of age and handsome.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER IS BELOW FLOOD RECORD

Sand Boils and Crawfish in Knees Worry Working Engineers, However

(By Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—The Mississippi river continues to rise slowly from Red river landing south, but the stages today are approximately two feet below the high record of last year. Light rain fell yesterday in Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee, and this morning rain and hail fell in New Orleans and lower Louisiana.

The engineers are still hopeful of holding intact the remaining levees, but in some sections north of Baton Rouge sand boils and crawfish are giving considerable trouble. Danger of crevasses will not have passed for another two weeks at least, but the chances of controlling the swollen stream from the mouth of the Red river south are considered extremely favorable.

This morning's river map showed a stage of 41.2 feet at Baton Rouge, a rise of 0.2 in twenty-four hours; at Donaldson, 32.6 feet, a rise of 0.1; New Orleans, 20.2, a rise of 0.2.

Regulars Work At OId Places With Jackets

Team Is Light and Not the Best in the World With the Willow—Ready for the Games With Red and Black

From present outlooks, the Tech team that will take the field on next Friday will be different from any that has gone into the fray so far. The varsity men who were taken off on account of their bum playing have been taken back on and are playing great ball. The line-up that is practising every day and that will most likely start off the first game will be composed of Attridge, behind the bat; A. Mason, on first, Captain Montague, on second, with Donaldson filling the gap between the third and second stand. Moore will be back on third base, and he is putting up some game of ball at the present time. If he only holds out he will be heard from in the coming series.

In the outfield there is some doubt as to just who will fill the places. Wooten is playing good ball, and so is Tyler Montague. Both these men are fast and know the game. They will most likely be seen in a varsity uniform on the opening day. Pitts will most likely play one of the gardens while he is not doing slab work. Pitts, by the way, is leading the Yellow Jacket squad in the hitting department, his average being over .300 for the season. There are a couple of men who are hitting around .300, but the rest of the bunch are doing meager .200, and some under that. The Yellow Jacket squad has had a hard time this year, and that is the main reason that the team has made such a poor showing. The new field was being graded and the team had to practice on foreign grounds and then have to play on a diamond that was like the old corn field back on the farm, far away. However, Tech is making no excuse for the poor showing that has been made. Their hope is in the future, and, with an even break of luck, they stand a fair chance of getting one game, maybe, and then, again, all dope may be upset and they will completely break up the championship hopes of the Georgia team.

That the Georgia bunch is a good team is not to be discounted, but that Tech has a fighting team is also not to be discounted. Pitts will be used in the opener, and he is counting on getting by with a good margin. He is a left-hander and knows the game, but he is light—in fact, they are all light. That is the main trouble with the Yellow Jacket team. They haven't the force to put the ball out of the lot, and the Georgia bunch has. Attridge will do the catching, and he can be depended upon to put up a good game, but, as has been said before, he is weak with the willow. He has a good arm and knows the game, and there will be very few of the Red and Black who will pilfer the second sack.

Amasen will put up a good game, but he is another one of those light young fellows that can't put the ball out of reach. He is a clever fielder and fast on the bases.

The team as a whole is getting into grand defensive form and improving slightly in the offensive department, and it is only a football question, "Will the superior weight of the boys from up the Seaboard counteract the defensive work of the boys from out in the hollow? Coach says, "Well, no, I don't know; we have been beaten before, and we have won before, so I guess we will hand them all they are looking for and trust in Providence."

Montgomery Is The Next Stop

Crackers Have Made Almost an Even Break on Road, Which Is Good

With the wind-up Wednesday afternoon of the stay in Mobile, the Atlanta club moves on to Montgomery, this making the third stop of the present long road trip, which is to be finished with a game at New Orleans on May 19.

In Montgomery four games will be played and then the boys that answer to the call of Billy Smith will be switched over to Memphis for four games. Then it will be to New Orleans for three and back home. Up to the present time the club has lost four and won three on the road trip with other good teams yet to buck.

To date in the Mobile games the Atlanta club has shown rather poorly but as the men were not expected to keep up the fast clip at which they began work no one but the chronic knockers have out their hammers. As it stands the club has a percentage of almost .500 for the road trip, all of which will go towards winning most any pennant.

While in Birmingham the club played really above form. The first game was lost in a one-sided fashion and then the other three were tucked away by the Cracker clan. This was mainly due to luck and the poor work of the Barons bunch rather than exceptionally good work on the part of the Smith men. This luck, however, has now changed and the Mobile Gulls are daily trouncing the crew that represents the Georgia city.

In Montgomery, Memphis and New Orleans the Crackers are sure to meet stiff opposition. Good teams will be played and it is going to take some real baseball to win the series. However, by the time the jinx will probably be chased and the team will give a good account of itself.

Oxford Declines

OXFORD, England, May 7.—The athletic authorities at Oxford and Cambridge universities have declined the challenge from Harvard and Yale universities for a track and field meet at the Harvard satdium in June, because of lack of necessary funds at that date and because examintions will then be in progress. They suggest September as more suitable.

Again Mobile Proves Winner Over Atlanta

Bausewein Pitched Good Ball After the Second Inning—Atlanta Outhit the Gulls but the Taps Didn't Count

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MOBILE, Ala., May 7.—George Bausewein was sent against the Gulls yesterday in his second trial of the series. For eight innings George pitched good ball; for two innings George was percolated with base hits, wherefore George lost his game, 4 to 3.

Incidentally the game made it three straight from the Crackers, for the local tribe and their eighth straight win of the season. Also Bradley Hogg, former star slabber of the Mercer Baptists, rang up his sixth straight win of the year.

It was a day of straights. Straight hitting by the Gulls in innnings one and two did the work, and hard straight fielding all through the battle prevented the Crackers from scoring more than they did, as Hogg gave up ten hits to ten slapped off Bausewein's benders.

In the initial chapter Bausewein started his old walking tactics by presenting Stock with a pass to Agler's station. Risland errored Starr's grounder and both men were safe. O'Dell and Jacobsen went out in order, the runners advancing, and Clark's timely double to center brought the men scampering home for a couple.

Campbell's double, Schmidt's single, a walk, an infield hit and O'Dell's single gave the Gulls two more in the second. Long dropped Jacobsen's fly in the seventh and Baby Doll came home on Robertson's triple to right. Schmidt's homer over the fence in the eighth gave Mobile its sixth run.

The Crackers couldn't score until the seventh. With two men out, Graham and Bausewein singled, Hogg made a wild pitch, O'Dell errored and two runs came in. A double by Welchonce and Smith's single added another in the eighth.

Again Georgia Runs Up Score

ATHENS, Ga., May 7.—The Georgia team won from Washington and Lee Tuesday afternoon by the score of 14 to 1. Big John Morris twirled for Georgia, being opposed by Brower, of Washington and Lee.

Georgia's habit of scoring in the first was not broken. A double by McWhorter and two singles netted three runs. It was increased to five in the second. Erwin had a busy day in right, gathering in everything which came his way. Georgia's drives were frequent, but not as long as usual. Nor was chance was the fielding of Erwin and Ginn. Donohue, for the visitors, caught a steady game and held the Georgia base runners pretty well.

Thirty-Two Amateurs Enter Boxing Tourney

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, May 7.—Thirty-two amateur boxers representing eight classes will fight for the title of "national amateur athletic champion," in the final session tonight in the National Amateur Athletic union's tournament. Only two of the eight champions will defend their honors.

THIS IS THE DAY OF BUNKERS

—STEWART MAIDEN.

"This is the day of bunkers and traps in the golf game," says Stewart Maiden, the professional, at the East Lake club of the Atlanta Athletic club. "The straight, wide and clear courses are to no longer be used by the largest clubs.

"To keep any game popular you must continually keep the standard high. In a clear course there will be scores of players who soon perfect their game, and they will then naturally lose their love for it. You must always be adding some trap or bunker that will require a new stroke. In this way no one will master the course in a short time, and this will serve to keep up the interest.

"Already many new traps have been added at the East Lake course, and others are likely to follow. Right now the local course is considered most excellent, but with the new traps and bunkers that will be added from time to time it will attract national interest."

Next month Maiden is going to England to enter the national open championship tournament. While across the water he will play on many of the largest and best courses in England, Scotland, France and other countries and will doubtless pick up many new ideas regarding improvements for the local course. He will keep his eye peeled for any new idea, and it can be stated that the East Lake course will get its full share of improvements.

Another Fan Gets a Ticket

H. B. Brown, of Smyrna, Ga., is the latest baseball fan to identify his picture in The Journal and receive a ticket to the next game at Ponce de Leon, which happens to be on May 19.

The picture in which the arrows pointed to Mr. Brown was taken the last day the team was here. He identified it a day or so ago and at once received the pass. He was pleased at the easy manner in which he received the ticket, stating that the picture was as plain as day and that every fan has a chance to come in for just as good look.

LEFT FIELDER IS NEED OF CHATTANOOGA CLUB

Manager Elberfeld Wishes to Retain Harbison as Utility Player

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 7.—Elberfeld is not yet satisfied with his outfield, this department having occasioned him worry since the club was first assembled for spring practice. Left field is the source of worry, to be more exact, as Elston in right and King in center are fixtures. Including Harbison, who is now covering the sinister field, six men have attempted to perform in this section of the outer defense without meeting with the approval of the bull.

The first tried out was Fuller, the semi-pro being given a chance during the training period. He lasted about four days. Cruise, who was released to Macon several days ago, was the next athlete to tackle the situation. The Sally slugger managed to stick through about one week of the season. The next man to be given a trial was Chouinard, the Indian secured from the White Sox. He lasted exactly two days before receiving return mileage. Then Jimmy Gillespie was shifted to left with Massey on third. This arrangement lasted until about two weeks ago when Massey was sold to Galveston and Gillespie recalled to third. This threw "Dug" Harbison, the utilitarian, into left where he now remains.

KAVANAUGH AWARDS CUP

President W. M. Kavanaugh will in person present the Atlanta club with the attendance trophy, which was won on opening day, at one of the big games during June. The league head has already notified President Frank Callaway, of the local club, that he will be on hand and the Atlant mogul is now trying to settle upon some date for the big affair.

It is not often that President Kavanaugh gets around to visit the different clubs, and he will be given a royal welcome while here. The offering of an attendance trophy for opening day was a scheme planned by the president, and has worked much good for the league as a whole. It is paid attendance that counts and this the offering of the cup has stimulated.

New Pitcher For Atlanta, Says Report

Al Furchner Picked Up by Billy Smith Says Report From Mobile — Directors Know Nothing of Any Such Move

MOBILE, Ala., May 7.—Robertson and Schmidt and Brady and Dunn will be the batteries in the final Atlanta-Mobile game here Wednesday, Manager Finn has won three in a row and is out to take the fourth and make a clean sweep, and he believes his big hurler is just the man to do the work.

It was announced here Tuesday night that Manager Smith had signed Pitcher Al Furchner, recently picked up by Manager Finn. He did not pitch ball last season, but two years ago was a star in the Western league, and is expected to make a good man for the Crackers.

Jack Kernan, released and resigned as utility, has again been released by Manager Smith, and George Roha, the veteran, has taken his place.

At baseball headquarters President Frank Callaway did not know anything at all regarding the signing of the new pitcher. He said he had heard nothing from Manager Smith regarding any such move, and if it had been made he did not know just who had been released.

The talk of signing Bill Chappelle, the Chattanooga hurler, is also above the knowledge of the local directors. In the first place, no move to purchase the Lookout right-hander has been made, and Chattanooga has not yet announced that Chappelle will be cut adrift.

BY GRANTLAND RICE

FAME AND THE BREAK.

When one lamps the queer shifts which fortune takes, and pips from time to time the unexpected cracks in the dope, the mystery of it all is only advanced.

There's Chance, for example, at the foot; Evers at the top and Giants and Pirates, rated the class of their circuit, struggling along behind. A year ago today Hank O'Day, afterwards cut adrift, had the Reds out in front of the field. With better material, Joe Tinker, rated as the best new leader that has broken in for a decade, has the Reds in the rut.

After grappling with this upheaval one is reminded again of the late Hek's pointed verses—viz.:

"When just the merest accident a reputation makes;
When just the merest accident a reputation breaks;
When destinies are often shaped upon a drunken guess,
As some one happens to say 'no' when what he means is 'yes;'
When back to a blind chance you trace the most successful guy—
Then why ask whatinel is who and whatinel is why?

"Dame fortune is a cock-eyed wench who shoots not where she aims;
What is called worth is worthless and mere luck decides the games;
It is not what you do yourself but what they do to you;
Or fail to do, that aids you in the trick of getting through;
When top or bottom is declared by simple cast of die,
Then why ask whatinel is who and whatinel is why?"

WHY, INDEED?

To continue further, who can explain such freaks as this—Clark Griffith was almost helpless at New York and Cincinnati, yet with Washington, a confirmed seventh-placer, Griff leaped to the front again.

Jimmy McAleer, trailing in St. Louis and Washington, moved out in one season as head adviser of the Red Sox champions. Ned Hanlon ruled at Baltimore and Brooklyn, but toppled with a thud in Cincinnati. There are more kinks than one to this fame of the game—whatever the game.

As, for example, our old Heidelberg side-kick, Lute McCarty. Lute is posing as a top-liner today and is slipping by with it. Yet a few years ago when Jeff, Corbett and Fitz and one or two more were around, the McCarty type couldn't have slipped in as bootblack to a champ. There merely happened to be a vacancy at the moment Lute stuck his mug into the frame.

THE OLD TRIANGLE.

"Evers," states an exchange, "seems to be getting along much better without Chance and Tinker than Chance and Tinker are getting along without Evers."

Which is true to this extent, not panning the Trojan from any viewpoint: Neither Chance, nor Tinker happens to have an Archer, Bresnahan, Zimmerman, Schulte, Mitchell, Cheney, etc., to assist in the getting along.

There's something in having the necessary momentum to officiate at the start.

That loud, incessant cheering you now gather from the west is the uproarious merriment being exhibited by western batsmen in the thought that Walter Johnson is due in that section for a three weeks' stand.

Here's another harassing query of considerable complexity: If the Tigers lose nine or ten straight with Cobb in the line-up, what would have happened to the Navin assemblage minus the well known Peach?

The Tiger owner probably feels that if he is to have a tail-end club he might as well have paid $15,000 less for the privilege and permitted Tyrus to rest his exuberant temperament for a year.

The Boston Braves, who have held all losing and tail-end records for a generation, are about to retire in confusion and rout. They are beginning to see in the Yanks a rival that has them trimmed from every direction known to the compass. Their past glory as derelicts is upon the verge of fading from the fickle memory of mankind, ever ready to turn towards the latest record holder.

Connie Mack is unwilling to forecast any pennant, but when pressed further he finally admitted that he was in doubt whether Bender or Plank would be picked to work the first world series contest.

Rochester, always a loyal booster when its team was a sure pennant winner, seems to have developed into a chronic crab, now that other teams seem to have a chance, judging from the daily wails in the press of Hustlerville.

Amateur Boxers Mix

BOSTON, May 7.—More than 100 amateur boxers from the United States and Canada will participate in the national amateur athletic union boxing championship meet here tonight. A number of national title holders will defend their honors.

The contestants will include the winners in the recent New England Amateur Athletic Union's championship meet and boxers from New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Chicago, Toronto, Montreal and St. John N. B.

GIRL BASEBALL MAGNATE NOW FORMING BALL CLUB

NEW YORK, May 7.—Flock around, girls, and listen to this.

How often have you envied the snappy playing of the Giants? How often have you longed to play ball yourself, and bewailed the fact that the girl ball players are about as uncommon as a snowy day in July. Well, here's a chance for athletically inclined girls to develop into female Wagners, Matties and Marquards. And don't forget that the female of the species is more deadly," etc.

Miss Ida Schnall is the boss of the New York Female Giants. Back in 1908 she started the team, played exhibition games—with male teams—for charity. Now comes Miss Ida with a new scheme. She will be a magnate—just like Charley Ebbets, and will spend no money. Another nine is to be formed, and the two teams will play exhibition games, mostly for charity's sake; but of course Ida admits that she doesn't expect to lose money.

Ida is supposed to be the champion all-round athlete in these parts. Recently she did o diving stunt at the Winter Garden, but she decided to get back into the baseball game again. She wants about ten girls who know something of baseball, and who are there with the muscle and nerve. So if you'd shine in this company drop a postal to Ida, and Ida will tell you when to report for duty at the Bronx oval, where her cohorts are getting back into trim by practicing on Sundays.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

A Good Foundation of Much Importance

THERE is nothing that these words apply to, but that means much, from the building of a house, the starting of a herd of cattle or a flock of chickens, or in the beginning of any other undertaking. If a person builds a house that will last indefinitely, there is nothing more important than building a solid, firm foundation. How many times have you seen buildings set upon rocks, ordinary pillars or even pegs and at a future time a better foundation expected to be put under same? In nine cases out of ten the weight in settling of such a building will get it all out of plumb, and when once uneven the entire building is crooked or all wrong. This same thing applies to the starting out in life of any young couple, and in every line of work. More especially does this apply in selecting a home or a farm where one expects to live or spend their future life. Above all things, every one should be very careful and give much thought and study to the founding or beginning in every walk of life, or in all of their undertakings. This is the cause of many unsuccessful attempts in nearly everything, especially so in selecting a home or a farm. How often do you see people who use judgment in this respect?

One of the 'greatest mistakes that most people make, especially in starting out in farm life, is that they will choose a large place or a number of acres in preference to a small place suited just exactly for their wants. How little consideration is paid by many in this beginning. A proper location in a good neighborhood or close to railroad facilities, especially if the line of work you undertake requires the shipping of your products, how many take into consideration these conveniences and what it means to you in future years? The quality of land and what can be built or grown on same is another thing that is often overlooked. A person should first decide just what they want and what is required to produce these wants, just the same as you would lay a foundation for a certain kind of house after the architect had drawn the plans. If one desires a cotton farm, of course certain surroundings and conditions should be well considered. If a dairy farm, a poultry farm, a truck garden or an orchard, the first of all such things as shipping facilities, the quality of land that is best suited to the growing of these products, the location of market, and the natural fertility or adaptation to buildings suited for your purpose should be well considered in selecting just what you desire.

At the present time there are hundreds of immigrants or land settlers going to certain sections right now, attracted there by land agents and the energetic work of the railroads in certain sections that are suited to growing hay. In this section there are hundreds of tons of hay now of last year's crop with absolutely no market within easy reach and no stock to convert this hay into cash. It is useless for these people to do such, but nevertheless it is being done today. The same thing can be said of hundreds of people who are adopting farms and buying homes and are starting many operations under unfavorable conditions that cannot possibly succeed or earn them a profit, simply because they do not take into consideration other things that are of far more importance that should be considered in their beginning. This mistake appears so many times in the life of many people, especially so in the founding of what your future prospects will be at the end of a lifetime.

It is far better to have a small farm, well tilled, well kept, and that is suitable for growing the products that can be sold at the largest per cent of profit, and suited to the growing of products that are naturally adapted to these particular localities and it is a great mistake for any one to continue to grow or produce anything at a loss when this time can be converted to something else that they know without doubt there is a far greater per cent of profit.

Yours very truly,

(To Be Continued.)

POULTRY FEED POULTRY FEED

Mrs. P. T. Callaway, Single Comb Rhode Island Reds, Wasington, Ga., April 14, 1913.

Aunt Patsy Poultry Feed Co., Memphis, Tenn.

Gentlemen:—Please ship me thirty 100-pound bags Aunt Patsy Poultry Feed, the egg producer, and ten bags Aunt Patsy Scratch Feed. As summer is coming on I am decreasing the quantity of grain I feed to my chickens and increasing the quantity of Aunt Patsy Mash. I find that by feeding Aunt Patsy Mash regularly through the spring and summer, my hens do not go on the long annual strike in the early fall, but keep laying.

And when it comes to baby chicks, there is nothing I have ever used that I believe like them or that produce thrifter youngsters than Aunt Patsy Mash. If you will keep up the quality fresh and sweet as you have always sent me, I could not ask for better feed for young or old stock.

Respectfully,

MRS. P. T. CALLAWAY.

Capital City Club Closes Trade for Brookhaven Property Subject to Legal Formalities—Assembly to Act on Oglethorpe University Plan—No. 455 Peachtree Street Leased to Auto Concern—Sale Note—Houses Rented

The Capital City club, through a special committee, has accepted the proposition of the Brookhaven estates to buy the Brookhaven club property. The trade is conditional only on the necessary legal formalities. Charles P. Glover, of the Charles P. Glover Realty company, handled the transaction.

The original price made by the Brookhaven estates on the property was $110,000, but some concession was made, exactly how much is not disclosed.

The property consists of 150 acres, the club house, a water and sewer system and alake. The sellers agree to macadamize the road, which will afford 9,000 feet of frontage on a paved thoroughfare.

The Capital City club will use the property as its country club house, with a golf course, tennis courts, boating and bathing. It will spend a considerable amount on the property, both on the grounds and the building.

OGLETHORPE UNIVERSITY.

Real estate agents are looking forward with interest to the meeting of the Presbyterian assembly, which will doubtless take some sort of action on the Oglethorpe university project.

The Silver Lake Park company has given the church fifty acres with frontage on the Peachtree road about one and a half miles north of the Brookhaven property. There has already been raised $200,000, and $250,000 additional is expected to be raised in Atlanta.

The university will consist of a community of buildings whose cost will be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

PEACHTREE LEASE.

Turman, Black & Calhoun have leased for 10 years to Gordon Lee, the Johnson Motor company the two-story and basement building at No. 455 Peachtree street. The term of the lease is five years and the consideration about $3,000 a year.

This is the south half of the building that Dr. Roberts built some time ago. The other half is occupied by the Hembree Manufacturing company, makers of the Indian motorcycle.

The lessees of No. 455 are agents for the Stevens-Duryea, the Little Six and the Chevrolet.

SALE AND RESALE.

M. C. Kiser and W. M. Nichols, who on Tuesday bought at the court house from the Sayre estate No. 81 West Pine street for $1,400, have resold it for $1,700.

FIFTEEN FREE TRIPS TO PANAMA CANAL OFFERED

Southern Commercial Congress Wants Suggestions for Memorial to Canal

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7.—A unique contest has been inaugurated by the Southern Commercial Congress. Fifteen free trips to the Panama canal for the best suggestions for a memorial to commemorate the opening of the canal. The announcement was made today by Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of Florida, president of the congress.

The congress believes completion of the canal should be marked by some suitable memorial, and the contest will arouse interest in the study of the trade relations of the canal to the United States, Latin America and the world.

The memorial can take any form, a statue, an international celebration, a book, a convention—anything that the jury of award decides is the best suggestion to commemorate completion of the canal.

Secretary of State Bryan and John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union, with others to be selected by themselves, will constitute the jury of award. They will decide the fifteen best suggestions.

The trips to the canal will be made in November, from Mobile, Ala., where the fifth annual convention of the Southern Commercial Congress will be held, coincident with the opening of the canal. At this convention the American commission of the congress, which sailed April 26 for a three months' tour of fourteen European countries to study agricultural co-operation and co-operative rural banking, will make a report of its investigations.

Great preparations are now being made at Mobile for the convention. Many of the 10,000 delegates who will attend the convention will make trips to the canal.

After the convention the Southern Commercial Congress will conduct a tour of several hundred business men through South and Central American countries to study at first hand new trade conditions and possibilities that will come with opening of the canal.

The contest is open to an ynewspaper, chamber of commerce, board of trade, commercial organization, college or high school, or individual. Each suggestion for the memorial should, if possible, be printed in some newspaper and a copy of the newspaper containing the suggestion must accompany the letter of each contestant.

Each suggestion must be limited to 100 words. The contest closes July 15. The awards will be announced within thirty days thereafter. All suggestions should be addressed to "Contest Department," Southern Commercial Congress, Southern building, Washington, D. C.

BLACK HAND AND WHITE SLAVE CHIEFS ARRESTED

Rose Hart and Alexander Rossi Taken into Custody in Denver, Tuesday Night

(By Associated Press.)

DENVER, Col., May 7.—Rose Hart, alleged leader of a "white slave" gang, and Alexander Rossi, accused as the head of a "black hand" band operating in Denver, were arrested at midnight by Sheriff D. M. Sullivan. During incidental fighting the officer was severely beaten.

Sheriff Sullivan arrested the Hart woman on orders from the grand jury investigating alleged police graft and vice conditions in Denver recently. A crowd insisted that the sheriff release the woman.

After Sullivan had fought for half an hour against the crowd, a man struck him over the eye with a pair of brass knuckles. Sheriff Sullivan, releasing his hold on the Hart woman, turned upon his latest assailant. Instantly a man's arm encircled his neck and the woman disappeared.

Sheriff Sullivan, with the aid of several police officers, then arrested Rossi in front of a hotel a block away. The Hart woman went to the police station, where she told her story to Chief of Police O'Neill, who released her without bond.

TARIFF BILL HANGS FIRE ON INCOME TAX FEATURE

Minority Amendments Retard Progress and Bill Will Hardly Reach Vote Wednesday

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The income tax section of the tariff bill has retarded progress of the measure in the house that Democratic leaders early today expressed doubt of the bill's passage before tomorrow.

Majority Leader Underwood sought, when the house reconvened, to speed up consideration of the measure, but there were scores of minority amendments, and he found it difficult to fix any time for closing debate.

Following the income tax were the administrative features of the bill with several stumbling blocks in the way, notably the provision giving a 5 per cent differential on imports in American owned vessels.

Should these features be reached before the night session, the Democrats plan to bring about an agreement for a vote before adjournment, probably about midnight.

After the reading of the bill is concluded under the five-minute rule there may be two motions to recommit. Minority Leader Mann will have one motion which will include amendments to the bill as a whole.

Because of the chair's ruling yesterday that the rule provided a tariff board is not germane to the bill, another fight on that feature seems assured.

The Republicans plan to attack it again at the close of the bill's consideration and an appeal will be taken from the chair's ruling if need arise.

The Progressives also may have a motion to recommit. If possible, however, the bill will be put upon its passage before adjournment for the day.

The first attack on the income tax today came from Representative Graham, of Pennsylvania, who unsuccessfully urged an amendment to change the provision requiring the tax to be paid at the source of income. Representative Hull, in charge of the section, declared the plan had worked successfully for fifty years in England, "where every body carrier understands and approves it."

Consideration of the income tax feature of the bill finally was concluded and the house immediately proceeded with the administrative provisions with little likelihood of opposition.

CARNEGIE'S AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP QUESTION

Suffragette Declares He's Registered in Scotland—He Claims U. S. Franchise

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 7.—Miss Mae Scott-Troy, a San Francisco suffragette, cabled today to Andrew Carnegie as follows:

"What right have you to pose as an American citizen when you are registered as a voter in the parish of Dornoch, in the county of Sutherland, Scotland? You are voter No. 11 on the official list received by me today from the sheriff of the county. Why did King Edward offer you a dukedom?"

Mr. Carnegie is described on the voting list as "occupation, gentleman, place of abode, Skibo castle."

Carnegie's Secretary Says He's Alien in England

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 7.—"Mr. Carnegie is an American citizen," said James Bertram, his private secretary, today. "He became so without naturalization, because he came here when he was eleven years old and his father was naturalized before he came of age. If he is registered as a voter in Scotland, he had nothing to do with it personally. He is a property owner there and his name probably appears on the registry list in connection with that fact. He could vote in that country, because he is an alien there."

Georgia Senator Introduces a Bill to Define Right to Intervene in Cuba

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Senator Bacon, chairman of the foreign relations committee, introduced today his bill defining the authority of the president for future intervention in Cuba which prescribes that any intervention in future shall be to sustain the authorities in Cuba, rather than for the purpose of displacing them.

"I do not wish to have the introduction of the bill at this time," said Senator Bacon, "arouse any idea that there is now anything in Cuba calling for intervention. But we never know when conditions calling for intervention might arise."

Irene Hagberg, the girl, who was detained in connection with the present vice probe, made a statement to police officials, it was said, involving members of the Bachelors' club, which resulted in the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of one person, whose identity was not made public.

TORRES MANSION TO BE TURNED INTO HOSPITAL

Famous Dwelling of Ex-Governor Don Luis Torres, at Hermosillo, Confiscated

DOUGLAS, Ariz., May 7.—The palatial home of ex-Governor Don Luis Torres, at Hermosillo, Sonoro, has been confiscated by the insurgent state government and will become a hospital. The building is considered one of the finest specimens of Spanish architecture on the continent and long has been one of the show places of Mexico.

By funds to be raised through a lottery, projected by the state government, the old mansion, set in its grove of tropical trees, will become a public state institution.

Ex-Governor Torres was governor of Sonoro for twenty years, during which time it was his penchant to beautify his home and its surroundings. He left the country during the Madero revolution and since has resided in California.

The president gave no definite assurances as to whom he would appoint.

Years teach much days never know. A business today is judged by what it knows. Should not thirty-eight years of keen observation and valuable experiments in the Southern Shoe business accumulate knowledge indispensable to the Southern Shoe Merchant?

PREMIUM BRAND SHOES

There are many things that these thirty-eight years have taught us. Particularly how to suit the Merchant's needs. Mothers of Puny Children

May Find Help In This Letter.

"My little daughter ever since her birth had been frail and sickly, and was a constant source of worriment. Several months ago I secured a bottle of Vinol and commenced to give it to her. I soon noticed an improvement in her health and appearance. I gave her in all three bottles and from the good it has done her I can truly say it will do all you claim." J. Edmund Miller, New Haven, Conn.

The reason Vinol builds up weak, ailing children so quickly is because it contains in a delicious combination the two most world famed tonics—i. e., the strength creating, body building elements of cod liver oil, with all the useless grease eliminated, and tonic iron for the blood added. If you have a weak, puny, ailing child, try Vinol on our offer to return your money if it fails to benefit your little one. Elkin Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Advt.)

TWO NEW WITNESSES IN PHAGAN MYSTERY TO TESTIFY THURSDAY

release is the announcement of the summary removal from office of Chief of Detectives George Peyton, of Houston, who made the arrest. Chief of Police Ben S. Davison declares that Peyton exceeded his authority in taking young Bowen into custody. Chief Beavers has wired Houston that Bowen is not wanted by the Atlanta police.

INQUEST AT 9:30.

Interest in the Phagan investigation is again centered in the coroner's inquest, which is scheduled to resume its probe into the mystery on Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Just what witnesses will go before the coroner's jury is not known, as the actions of the officials have been shrouded in mystery since the active entrance of Solicitor Dorsey in the case. It is probable, however, that in addition to recalling Newt Lee to the stand, the jurors will hear the testimony of Dr. Hurt, of Dr. Harris, and of Dr. Claude Smith, the city bacteriologist, who has examined the bloodstains on the shirt found at Lee's home, on the floor of the factory and on the garments of the murdered girl.

NEWT LEE TO TESTIFY.

The examination of Newt Lee before the jurors will be a vigorous probe similar to the questioning Monday afternoon of L. M. Frank, and especial emphasis will be laid on the conversation the two men had some days ago in the negro's cell.

It is not improbable that Mr. Frank himself will be recalled to the stand. Despite the fact that he gave testimony for three hours and a half, the stenographic record of his examination is being examined by the officials in order that they may bring him back if they are able to find any pertinent question that was not put to him during the three and one-half hours' examination Monday.

Lemmie Quinn, foreman of the tipping department in which Mary Phagan worked, may be another witness before the inquest. Quinn's corroboration of Frank's statement that he (Quinn) came to the factory a few minutes after Mary Phagan got her pay envelope will, it is said, be attacked by the detectives.

Few other witnesses will be examined Thursday, it is said, although it is probable that the two girls who are said to have been paid shortly before Mary Phagan arrived at the factory may be put on the stand.

Fourteen Houston Policemen Fired on Bowen's Account

BY KENNETH TODD.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 7.—Although young Paul P. Bowen, arrested in Houston Monday as a suspect in the Mary Phagan case, has been released by the chief of police, the release was ordered against the wishes of the chief of detectives and the latter has summarily discharged for opposing his superior in spite of the telegram from Chief Beavers, of Atlanta, to Chief Davison, of the local department.

Bowen was released twenty-four hours after the message was received. Chief of Detectives Peyton stubbornly refused to let the youth go free, so Chief Davison procured the keys and acted as turnkey. He also discharged Peyton and started a row that has the police department up in the air. Fourteen members of the department were discharged. Claiming that the discharge of Bowen was actuated largely by spite and before a thorough investigation had been made local Pinkertons' agents as well as private detectives are doing some work on their own accord.

The row between the chief of police and the chief of detectives was caused when the latter gave out the story to an afternoon paper without consulting the head of the department and mentioning his name.

Bowen Given Liberty, Makes Full Statement

(By Associated Press.)

HOUSTON, Tex., May 7.—P. P. Bowen, who was arrested here yesterday on suspicion in connection with an Atlanta case and who was released last night, made this statement today:

"My father is S. C. Bowen. He lives at Newnan, Ga. I told the detectives that they had made a mistake at the time they arrested me, and knew that they would soon find this to be so. If they investigated my references and letters. Of course, I was scared when they entered my room. I did meet them at the door with an open knife, and before I knew who they were I did say that if I had a gun they would not have come into my room. I meant it, too."

Bowen gives his record since 1908 as follows:

"Left home in 1908 to work for a transfer and storage company in Atlanta; in 1910 worked for the Southern railroad; in 1912 went to the Rock Island railroad at Eldorado, Ark., as a master car builder's clerk; in 1913 went to Tyler, Tex., as private stenographer to H. D. Earl, division superintendent of the Cotton Belt railroad. Left the employ of Mr. Earl April 28, last, and came to Houston Sunday night.

"I obtained a position with the Southern Pacific railroad as a master car builder's clerk soon after I arrived in Houston and was to have started to work Tuesday morning. I guess that job is a chance gone by now."

The statement of Bowen was substantiated by the chief of police, and Bowen's final words as he left the police station were:

"I wish that you would print my statement. I am not a scoundrel; I really have been done an injustice by this thing. I don't blame the men so much —that is their business to arrest suspects—but I don't think they have treated me exactly right."

Negro Asks Court to Allow Burial of Wife In a White Cemetery

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—An appeal was filed in the supreme court today on behalf of John B. Gaskell, of Chicago, a negro, from the decision of the supreme court of Illinois, refusing him a writ of mandamus to compel the trustees of Forest Home cemetery, Chicago, to accept the body of his wife, Pinkie, for burial in the cemetery which is the burial place of whites.

Gaskell has four children buried in the cemetery. They were buried there before the trustees imposed the rule that only whites should repose in the burial ground.

Gaskell offered to buy a lot and the trustees refused to sell to him. He then took his wife's body to a receiving vault and turned to the courts for relief. He claims that his civil rights, under the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution are being abrogated.

MOTHER AND SICK GIRL ARE I NNEED OF CHARITY

A case of deserving need was reported Wednesday through friends of The Journal. A sixteen-year-old girl is ill in a local sanitarium and her mother is without means to keep her there. Some assistance has been tendered to them, but more is needed. The girl has been sick three weeks, it is said, and has been in the sanitarium a week. Both the girl and her mother are strangers in Atlanta, without a claim upon anyone in the city, and with no relatives anywhere to whom they can appeal. They earn their own living in the show business when sickness does not interfere. Anyone who can render aid is requested to notify Dr. J. A. Alley at the Peachtree Inn.

The candy booth cigars and soft drinks will be in charge of Miss Goldie Lloyd and a bevy of young ladies belonging to the church.

Mrs. Zoe Cawhern and Mrs. A. S. Wilson are chairmen of the general committee and have the May feast in charge.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 7.—Secretary of State Bryan, returning from his mission to California, scarcely paused in Chicago today.

He left the Rock Island train at Englewood, walked across a platform and was off for Washington on the Pennsylvania express due in Washington tomorrow.

Mr. Bryan had nothing to say about the alien land question.

GOMEZ TO CONFER WITH CARRANZAS OVER REVOLT

Madero's Former Washington Representative Will Enter Mexico at Eagle Pass

(By Associated Press.)

EL PASO, Tex., May 7.—Senor Vasquez Gomez is expected to enter Mexico at Eagle Pass, to confer with Governor Venustiano Carranza, according to word received by the El Paso constitutionalist committee.

The meeting between Madero's former Washington agent and the commander-in-chief of the present revolution in Mexico, is looked upon with much significance.

It is proposed, say heads of the movement in Chihuahua and Sonora, to combine the constitutionalists element with the following of Vasquez Gomez which was lost to Madero when the two men disagreed after the taking of Juarez two years ago.

The power of Vasquez Gomez in southern Mexico states is admitted to be strong, aside from the political popularity of his brother, Attorney Emilio Gomez, who represents still another wing of the radical party. Vasquez Gomez escaped from Vera Cruz to proceed to Washington, where his mission was of a confidential nature. Within a few days a decision is expected regarding his stand in the present uprising.

Neither of the Gomez brothers have accepted Huerta as provisional president.

Japanese Offer to Aid Rebel Carranza

EAGLE PASS, Tex., May 7.—Secht Sagatani, a Japanese who is claimed to bear credentials from the Japanese consul general t San Frncisco showing him to be the editor of a Japanese paper in that city, yesterday offered Governor Carranza to recruit a large body of his countrymen for services in the constitutionalist army. He said he could secure the enlistment of many Japanese who served in the war with Russia.

Governor Carranza refused the offer, telling Sagatani he wanted only Mexican subjects under his manner. Sagatani told immigration officials here he was gathering war news for his paper.

Gomez Will Not Arrive During Wednesday

EAGLE PASS, Tex., May 7.—Governor Carranza stated today he has been corresponding with Dr. Gomez, but does not expect him today. He said he expected to go to Monclova today.

Indians With War Paint Invade the Treasury of U. S.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 7.—"Wampum, wampum, we want wampum," was the guttural demand made upon Secretary McAdoo today by four stalwart Indians in war paint and feathers. The unarmed secretary of the treasury, essentially a man of peace, was perplexed, and sought counsel to learn how his predecessors had repulsed Indian attacks upon the treasury in the past.

Dr. Charles Miller, chief of the warrant division, who has picked up bits of the Indian tongue by drawing government checks for various tribes, approached the red men. They confided that they wanted their share of the $800,000 which belongs to the Sioux tribe of the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota.

The Indians were armed with documents from the interior department indicating that part of this money was due them, and they thought the place to make collection was directly from the cash drawer of the government.

Secretary McAdoo referred them back to Secretary Lane, who must make the disbursements.

BORAX SMITH TURNS HIS AFFAIRS OVER TO TRUSTEES

Multimillionaire Vests in Board Management of Personal and Financial Interests

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Frank M. ("Borax") Smith, nationally known as leading spirit in a score of big financial operations, has vested in two boards of trustees the management and direction of all his personal and financial interests.

The transfer of the management of his personal and financial interests is conveyed to one board of trustees, five in number, by a deed of agreement of trust executed to the Mercantile Trust company of San Francisco. This board is empowered to assay the mass of Smith's personal holdings, and a duty of the board will be to adjust these holdings so that each shall proceed without danger of interruption.

Additional extensive interests held by Smith in alliance with R. G. Hanford and W. S. Tevis include the United Properties corporation, organized in 1910, with a capitalization of $200,000,000.

The first named board of trustees will not govern any of the concerns of the United Properties corporation. Ultimately, if Smith's personal interests become involved in the affairs o f the larger corporation, the trustees may act in an advisory capacity.

The second board of trustees is named to rearrange and direct the concerns of the United Properties corporation.

The new arrangement was deemed advisable by reason of the great complexity that Smith's operations had attained and by the multiplicity of loans found necessary to carry them on.

FRENCH AND SPANISH CHIEFS IN CONFERENCE

Alphonso Royally Greeted on His Two-Day Visit to Paris, Anarchists Arrested

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, May 7.—King Alfonso of Spain reached Paris this morning with Premier Count Alvaro de Romanones for a two days' official visit. It is popularly regarded as a political event of the first importance, there being a general impression among the people that Spain is to become the ally of France.

President Raymond Poincare and Premier Louis Barthou, with the remainder of the cabinet, received the royal party at the station. The king and the president talked with animation while driving through the Avenue de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees to the king's temporary residence at the Palais d'Orsay.

Twenty-five thousand troops, including infantry and cavalry, lined the route, and artillery salutes were fired in honor of the Spanish monarch.

An immense crowd, which had gathered to await the king, greeted him with loud cheering.

According to reports from the provinces, there were no demonstrations during the king's journey from the frontier to Paris. Seven arrests, however, were made of men who cheered for the Spanish anarchist Ferrera, who was shot at Mont Juich fortress in 1909.

JOB HARRIMAN AGAIN DEFEATED IN LOS ANGELES

Socialist Candidate Receives So Few Votes His Name Will Be Dropped

(By Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—Incomplete returns today from yesterday's primary election indicated that John Shenk, municipal conference candidate, and S. H. Rose, independent, would be the candidates for the mayoralty at the election on June 3. Job Harriman, Socialist candidate, who made such a strong showing eighteen months ago, was apparently defeated.

SENATE MAY CONFIRM HARRIS ON WEDNESDAY

Georgian's Nomination Is Not Considered Tuesday Because of Townsend's Opposition

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—When the name of William J. Harris was reached on the executive calendar of the senate yesterday afternoon, Senator Townsend, of Michigan, gave formal notice of a purpose to contest the confirmation of the Georgian's nomination for director of the census. At Senator Townsend's request, the nomination was not considered but may be taken up this afternoon.

"It is rather late in the day and there are a number of senators who will decide to discuss the Harris nomination, said Senator Townsend. "I think it had better go over."

The futility of pressing the nomination in view of this statement and the lateness of the hour was apparent to the Democrats and they acquiesced in Senator Townsend's request.
